'Paris terror shows it's time to end multiculturalism' – says an AM

PEOPLE across the world were left horrified by the terrorist mayhem in Paris which left 129 dead – and many others fighting for their lives in hospital.

In the wake of the horrific events of last weekend, a prominent Assembly Member, Dr Altaf Hussain, has said "multiculturalism has run its course", and that integration and the removal of barriers between people is the way forward.

To read Dr Hussain's full comments, turn to page 16.

Armed robbers steal thousands from village shop in Pontcymmer

POLICE in Bridgend are appealing for information, following an armed robbery at the Co-Op store on Victoria Street, Pontcymmer, on Monday (November 16).

At just after 6am, two men wearing balaclavas, armed with a crow bar and a hammer, confronted the manager of the store at the side entrance to the shop.

The manager – and two other shop workers – were tied up, and the two men demanded to know where the shop's safe was kept.

Over £2,000 in cash was stolen by the men, along with cigarettes and scratch cards. A cash register hard drive was also taken.

Officers have launched an investigation and suspect the robbery was committed by local people.

DI Andy Paddison, said: "I would like to reassure the community that incidents like this one are almost unheard of in this area and we do not expect a re-occurrence."

Toddlers get in the swim at Maesteg!

LOCAL toddlers recently built up their confidence in the water at Maesteg's Swimming Pool through the use of music, nursery rhymes and swimming equipment.

Over six weeks, free fun-filled parent and child swimming sessions organised in partnership with Bridgend Communities First, Plasnewydd Flying Start and HALO Leisure proved to be a great success.

One parent said: "My son really enjoyed it and his confidence in the water has increased."

Another parent said: "Being able to put my son under the water safely has been an excellent skill. My son has enjoyed every session and gets excited when he arrives at the swimming pool."

Allotment group says thank you

WE would like to take this opportunity to thank you on behalf of Kenfig Hill's Park Street Allotment, and from all the local community that attended the bonfire, barbecue and fireworks.

They would like to say a big thank you to businesses and residents for all their support and kind donations.

A good evening was had by all. This event could not have gone ahead without everyone's help and support. Once again, many thanks.

C E Grant,
Allotment secretary;
G Mason,
Allotment chairman.

Townswomen try their hand at crafts

AS always, Porthcawl Townswomen's Guild's monthly luncheon at the Angel Inn was well attended and the Guild meeting was a craft demonstration.

Thanks go to Freda Rodger and her craft group for organising a great afternoon; members enjoyed trying their hand at many different crafts.

We welcomed one new member, so our numbers are healthy! We are looking forward to the Federation Christmas lunch in Cardiff, also our own lunch at the Bridgend Catering College.

Members will be travelling to Bristol next month for the National Townswomen's Guild carol service.

On December 4, we will be holding a Christmas fayre at Trinity Church Hall (10.30am), in aid of the British Lung Foundation; tickets £1.50.

Our meeting next month is on December 9 at All Saints Church Hall (2pm) when we will be having a Christmas tea and entertainment will be provided by the Gilgal hand-bell ringers.

Sealawns site is to be finally cleared

THE site of the former Sealawns Hotel near Ogmores is finally to be cleared by its owner following the success of long-running legal action by the Vale of Glamorgan Council.

The former hotel was demolished unlawfully in May 2012, since which time the debris has remained on site untouched. The site can be seen from the main road through Ogmores and from the popular coastal path along the nearby shoreline.

It has always been the Vale Council's contention that the unlawful demolition has blighted this picturesque section of the Heritage Coast and in court District Judge Bodfan Jenkins described its current condition as "an eyesore".

Since the unauthorised demolition more than three years ago, the Vale of Glamorgan Council has been working to force the owner, Mr John Williams, to improve the condition of the site by pursuing action under the Planning Act.

The land owner has not taken any such action and instead, while also submitting planning applications for a residential development, has lodged a series of appeals against this action.

The latest appeal which was defeated in court this month was described by the judge as "spurious", "a stalling act", and "a desperate attempt to avoid financial outlay during the delay".

After throwing out the appeal, the judge ordered the land owner to carry out the restoration scheme specified in the notice so as to improve the appearance of the site until such time as the site is redeveloped.

In his ruling, District Judge Bodfan Jenkins described the site owner's agent, who represented him at the appeal, Mr McLoughlin, as "disingenuous" saying that "he put matters forward without thought and (attempted to) pull the wool over the eyes of the court."

The judgement also awarded £6,000 costs to the council.

Following the judgement, head of planning and regeneration for the Vale of Glamorgan Council, Marcus Goldsworthy, said: "This judgement is a vindication of the council's long-running legal action and should send a clear message to land owners in the Vale that unauthorised and unlawful developments will be met with robust action from the local authority."

Festive fayre for Tenovus

THE recently-formed Friends of Tenovus group in Bridgend will hold a fundraising Christmas fayre on November 28 at the Two Brewers, Brackla, at 12.30pm.

Without Tenovus, I don't know how I would have coped when my husband was terminal with cancer. Sadly, John passed in September 2011 and I was then diagnosed with breast cancer and skin cancer. Immediately, Tenovus was there again with support. I have accessed so many of their support services; through this I have been able to make some fantastic friends, through joining Bridgend Sing With Us choir with my 10-year-old granddaughter Megan.

The support is amazing and all of the Friends of Tenovus group have been affected by cancer either on a

OGMORE AM JOINS CAMPAIGN SAYING: 'RESPECT THE SHOPWORKERS'

Ogmores AM Janice Gregory joins retail workers in their campaign.

OGMORE AM Janice Gregory has shown her support for the shopworkers union, Usdaw, in their campaign to protect retail workers from abuse, by hosting an event at the National Assembly for Wales last week.

She joined the Union of Shop, Distributive and Allied Workers as part of the Freedom from Fear campaign, which seeks to prevent violence, threats and abuse directed at retail staff.

Mrs Gregory said: "Too often retail employees are confronted with violence, threats and abuse and it is really important we stand together and ask people to respect shopworkers, especially as we approach the busy Christmas shopping period and the Black Friday sales. 'Keep your cool at Christmas' is the very clear message that Usdaw is sending out to shoppers."

"I was personally shocked by the scenes of chaos and violence we saw during Black Friday last year."

"I will continue to campaign with Usdaw to provide shopworkers the support they need and deserve."

"We must give a clear message that abusing or assaulting workers who are serving the public is totally unacceptable," she added.

Speaker tells of aid for African mothers

AT the November meeting of Sker WI, president Nora Williams welcomed the members present on a wet and windy evening.

The fashion show was a success, with members modelling the clothes, and £300 was raised for funds.

The speaker for the evening was Angela Gorman, a qualified nurse, who gave a talk on 'Working with African Mothers'.

Angela set up a charity in 2005 (after watching a BBC Panorama documentary) to help mothers and their new babies in Africa.

The charity provides medication to treat and prevent the causes of maternal death. Angela goes to Africa regularly during the year and makes sure as much as possible is being done to help the mothers and babies.

Members donated baby clothes, some of which they had knitted themselves.

Our Christmas fayre is on November 27 at Trinity Church Hall from 10am-12 noon. In early December, we have a trip to Llanelli House to look forward to.

The next meeting is on Thursday, December 10 at St David's Church Hall, Nottage, when it is 'Party Time' with a fish and chip supper and entertainment to follow. The competition will be the best fancy dress. Anyone wishing to join us is very welcome.

Young entrepreneurs are showcased in town centre market

MORE than 30 enthusiastic young entrepreneurs from across south Wales are showcasing their products and services in a pop-up enterprise market in Bridgend town centre from November 19-21, as part of a national competition.

Each enterprise will be vying for a place in the grand final of the Carnegie UK Trust 'Test Town 2015' contest which offers the chance of winning £10,000 to develop their enterprise or business idea, as well as the title of 'Town Entrepreneur of the Year'.

Following a successful bid by BCBC, Bridgend town centre was selected as only one of ten locations in the UK and the only one in Wales to host the regional heats of Test Town 2015.

The annual contest has become one of the UK's largest entrepreneurial competitions, giving budding young entrepreneurs a valuable insight into running their own business.

The participants, all aged between 16 and 30 years old, took part in a mini-showcase event at Bridgend College last week to help them prepare for this week's market. Business Advisors from Bridgend County Borough Council's Economic Development Unit, Trading Standards officers and representatives from the Federation of Small Businesses (FSB) were on hand to offer helpful advice, guidance and feedback.

Christmas shoppers will be able to enjoy food and entertainment while the pop-up market is in town, with exciting new products such as gift baskets, fitness and beauty products and an array of hand-crafted, bespoke gifts being showcased as part of the national competition.

Event organiser, Ruth Rowe, Entrepreneurship Officer at Bridgend College said: "We're absolutely delighted with the response we've had to the competition!"

"We've been contacted by all kinds of enterprises from across south Wales, who have put themselves and their business ideas forward."

"The calibre of participants has been extremely impressive and we will announce the winner of the Welsh heat in a special prize-giving ceremony on Saturday, November 21 at Carnegie House, Bridgend town centre.

"We're also thrilled with the support and encouragement we have received from Bridgend town centre traders, who've helped to promote the event via their social media channels and by displaying our leaflets and posters on their premises."

Ruth Rowe added: "This week is Global Entrepreneurship Week (GEW) 2015 - a worldwide initiative to support young entrepreneurs and what better way to celebrate than to host an exciting and innovative event in one of our main town centres."

Bridgend County Borough Council Leader Mel Nott said: "This event is a wonderful opportunity to inspire our budding entrepreneurs of the future. We are proud that Bridgend county borough was selected to host this prestigious event and the enterprise market will not only showcase new products and services, but it will also provide a welcome boost to local trade within the town centre itself."

"I would encourage all our residents to head down to Caroline Street, Bridgend town centre this week to show their support for the initiative and this future generation of young business people."

The market will be open in Caroline Street, Bridgend town centre, from 10am-3pm until November 21.

Bike shed boost as primary pupils take to two wheels!

A NEW bike shed has been installed at Nantymoel Primary School, as the number of pupils travelling to the school on two wheels continues to soar.

Bikes and scooters are ruling the local roads and pavements, as around three quarters of Nantymoel parents are choosing to leave their cars at home for the daily school run.

That statistic could soon be improved even further by the opening of the new bike shed, which can store 20 bikes and 40 scooters.

Even the school's youngest pupils are getting involved, with those in Dosbarth Ceirios - the reception class - learning how to ride balance bikes, thanks to weekly sessions run by the school and supported by BCBC's active young people department.

Balance bikes are widely accepted as one of the best ways to teach children how to cycle. They don't have pedals or stabilisers, so children can learn the skills that are required to ride a bike.

Nantymoel Primary School headteacher Alison Jones said: "We are thrilled with our new bike shed, and would like to thank local renewable energy company Pennant Walters for providing the funding for it."

"We are keen to promote cycling right throughout our school, as we recognise the short and long-term benefits that pupils can gain from cycling."

"Not only does it help to keep children fit, but a healthy journey to school can also make them more alert, as it boosts their concentration levels."

Nantymoel Primary is among a select group

ABOVE: Bikes and scooters can be stored securely by pupils of all ages inside Nantymoel Primary School's new bike shed. School has earned the Silver School Mark from the Sustrans charity, which encourages people to take more journeys by walking, cycling, scooting and public transport.

Sustrans schools officer Roger Dutton said: "As the Ogmore Valley is a popular route for road cyclists who are keen to tackle the Bwlch, it is fitting that Nantymoel Primary School should be one of the schools leading the way in promoting active and sustainable travel among pupils."

"The latest stats show that the numbers of children walking, scooting or cycling to school in Nantymoel is on the rise, while car usage is falling, and I'm looking forward to seeing the new bike shed being used throughout the winter months."

Lottery cash for two local projects

TWO projects in Bridgend county borough are among those sharing £317,440 grants from the Big Lottery Fund.

Porthcawl Harbourside CIC has £50,000 towards plans to transfer harbourside land from Bridgend Council and build a five-storey maritime centre. This will be a visitor attraction with a focus on coastal science, maritime history, maritime-related sport, fitness, leisure, learning and employment.

Brncethin RFC Limited gets £50,000 towards plans to transfer a sports pavilion, the Clay Pits site, and a large grass area from Bridgend Council and create three football/rugby pitches, a cricket pitch, allotments, fishing and kayaking lake, mountain bike route, walking trail and campsite.

Local schools play vital role in new curriculum

SIX Bridgend county borough schools will take a leading role in developing Wales' new national curriculum.

"Due to be available to schools by 2018 so that it can be taught from 2021, the new curriculum will involve removing the current 'key stages' to try and create a more seamless progression through school," a BCBC spokesman said this week.

"Digital competence" would join literacy and numeracy as key elements teachers will be weaving into lessons across the curriculum, while there would be a greater emphasis on health and wellbeing.

Welsh Government Education Minister, Huw Lewis AM has announced a list of schools across Wales that will lead on its design, as well as other schools that will be charged with ensuring that teachers are given the support they need.

Mynydd Cynffig Primary, Pencoed Comprehensive School and Maesteg Comprehensive School will be among those developing the curriculum; while Maesteg Comprehensive School will also be looking at teachers' training requirements and workloads, and how they can be managed.

Other local schools pioneering that work will be Oldcastle Primary School, Heronsbridge School and Ysgol Cynwyd Sant.

Coun Huw David, BCBC's deputy leader, said: "These schools will perform a vital role in helping to develop the innovative new curriculum and ensuring that teachers are given the support necessary to help implement it."

"The new curriculum proposes several changes that will give the next generation an education that is even more suited to the modern world. For example, the subject of computer science will be strengthened and digital competence will be taught across all lessons."

"The schools that have been chosen are from a mix of English-medium, Welsh-medium, primary, secondary, special and faith schools. They will be working as part of an all-Wales partnership with local authorities, regional consortia, Estyn, leading academics, employers, Welsh Government and other key stakeholders," Coun David concluded.

Trip Advisor - Certificate of Excellence

Week that began with hope... and ended in horror

IT'S been a week with a focus on education: it started with a visit on Monday morning, on the way to the London train, to Oldcastle primary who had a week of science, technology, engineering and maths; stem subjects see as vital for the further growth of weak capabilities in our education system.

There was a great array of opportunities for the children, parents and staff planned for the week ahead. Parents had offered support, as had science advisors and employers.

The week included visits to the BAE repair workshops at Cardiff Airport and an evening of stargazing with an astronomer. The classes I visited were constructing a racing car from a kit, learning about why leaves change colour in autumn by learning about osmosis, and the use of friction in creating energy.

It was an impressive diary full of new hands-on learning for the pupils throughout the week. I agreed to come back on Friday to see how the week of learning and experimentation had gone.

Come Friday, the racing car was built and the children had had an amazing week. The final assembly was conducted by Dr David Arbulat, who came to talk about how he overcame his disability.

He showed an x-ray of his spine with its multiple fractures and the metal rods needed to hold it together. David had been a Royal Marine then joined the RAF regiment. A car accident led to his injury, and over a year in hospital.

The children were shown the German-designed lightweight lay-down bike that David rides, using his arms rather than his legs to drive the bike forward to win a number of arduous road races.

The talk and questions from the children focused on the mechanics of how David moves around, but also covered resilience, dealing with adversity and courage.

An impressive end to a week that will hopefully inspire the children in their study of STEM subjects over the coming years.

An inspiring morning was matched by an equally inspiring afternoon – looking at education through the prism of Parc Prison.

I was there with Attorney General Michael Gove and Dame Sally Coates, who has been appointed to head a Government inquiry into education provision for the 80,000 adults imprisoned in the UK.

Parc has a great track record in educational opportunities for prisoners while at the same time building a unique relationship with schools to support the children and families of prisoners.

During the visit, prisoners who had opted out of school talked of the degrees they were now following through the Open University. Courses based in the prison gym, the kitchen and workshops offered a range of qualifications all linked to numeracy and literacy skills.

With 200,000 children having a parent in prison in the UK, Parc has developed a focus on supporting families and schools, so that children of prisoners do not follow their fathers in opting out of school.

The support includes homework and reading clubs between fathers and children, and sessions with class teachers, to understand how the child is coping with school and the curriculum.

I was pleased the Attorney General visited Parc. I have held a number of debates in the Commons about Parc and it was good to be able to share the unique work local staff have developed to offer a different road to changed life opportunities.

That's where I got to on Friday evening, writing this column and then on Saturday morning, I turned on the radio.

The attacks in Paris were horrific to watch and listen to with graphic reports of cold-blooded killing. I found myself thinking of 9/11/01 and texting and emailing friends in Paris to check they were ok. As the day wore on, a friend contacted to say her son's band were to have travelled to Paris on Friday night to play at the Bataclan club on Saturday. The family are in shock.

A man emailed me to urge that I sign his petition to send troops to Syria. People interviewed questioned how you can trust Muslims, others worried about how safe Muslim families must feel, hearing the fear and anger expressed.

I don't know what will emerge over the coming days as police and intelligence services unpick the identities of the attackers, their supporters and affiliations.

I do know that how we respond to horrors defines our values as a society. Terrorists know that. That is why they use terror, to try and drive in our fear to abandon our values; values they fear will persuade too many of their followers to abandon their murderous ideology.

The lessons of this week, of resilience and dealing with adversity, of how education can change lives, open eyes to new ways of solving problems, seems like an important message for us all to hold on to.

It is the things we share, the lessons we learn together that make us stronger and bind us together... We must never forget that.

BRIDGEND CHOIR GOES WEST AND FOR SCHOOL CONCERT

Bridgend Male Choir at the Pembroke concert.

BRIDGEND Male Choir gave a concert at Bush Hill Comprehensive, Pembroke, with the school's 'show' choir to support local Lions' clubs.

A large audience gave a wonderful welcome to the choir, which in turn gave an accomplished performance.

Under the guidance of musical director, Rhianon Williams-Hale, choristers sang a number of items to be included on its imminent CD. Accompanist, Stephanie Bailey again provided a seamless link between MD and choir and their vocal duet drew huge applause.

The school's show choir lived up to its name with an entertaining programme; vocal solos and instrumental offerings with saxophone and flute. The author's highlight was the students singing 'Adiemus', composed by BMC patron, Karl Jenkins.

The Lions Clubs of Pembroke and Pembroke Dock had promoted the concert with the assistance of Bryn Williams, a former BMC chorister with family connections in the locality. A generous buffet and much impromptu singing closed a great west Wales evening at Pembroke Rugby Club.

The Rotarians welcome a new member

Rotary president Alan Reeks, with newly inducted Rotarian Dr Nigel Coombes.

AT the Rotary Club of Bridgend on November 16 in the Heronston Hotel Dr Nigel Coombes was inducted by president Alan Reeks who said: "It is the duty of our Rotary Club to add new members from time to time, so that we may not only increase our usefulness and influence as a club, but extend the spirit of Rotary throughout the community."

The president stated that Nigel had been elected to membership because all members believed him to be a worthy representative, who possessed qualities that will permit him to exemplify the true spirit of Rotary in his public, business, social and private life.

President Alan presented Nigel with his Rotary emblem and appointed him to the community service committee.

Dr Nigel Coombes thanked the president and his sponsor, Rtn Major Wayne Morgan MBE for introducing him and thanked all members present.

Choir in full voice CÔR Meibion Maesteg a'r Cylch (Maesteg and district male choir) recently set out on a dull and dismal day to help a charitable cause.

This time it was for the Radstock and Midsomer Norton Lions, which was formed in 1977 which has helped local and world communities raise much needed funds.

It had been seven years since the choir was in Radstock and it was pleased with the warm welcome at Midsomer Norton church.

The church was built in 1859, and has excellent acoustics.

The Men of Maesteg walked on in their black evening suits, white shirts, green bows and black shiny shoes opening with Men of Harlech, which stirred the audience of 300 and created a brilliant atmosphere which set the scene for a glorious concert.

It rolled on with old favourites such as G w a h o d d i a d, Mwfannwy, and Morte Chryste. Between the traditional male choruses, there was the beautiful soprano voice of Sally Ann Kingsbury; she sang a selection of music from musicals through to opera and the audience adored her.

The choir was in top form and had the audience joining in singing choruses from the spirituals Steal Away and Where Shall I Be? The control was entrancing, such is the dexterity of the choir under the baton of Huw Morgan.

The opening of the second half was more sombre. The compere, Ben Fish, paid respect to the fallen and injured of two world wars and the conflicts of modern times. He spoke the words 'They shall not grow old...'

The choir sang Y Tangnefeddwr by Eric Jones and Ryan Wood's arrangement of Tell My Father, and there was then a two minute silence.

This was followed by the choir singing Robbie Williams' Angels and You'll Never Walk Alone from Carousel. The choir finished with its signature version of Sibilus's Finlandia.

Cor Meibion Maesteg is determined to keep the tradition of Welsh choral music alive. It was conducted by Huw Morgan, deputy musical director, aided by pianist Ryan Wood.

The choir is now looking for a deputy accompanist. Contact the choir secretary Nigel Williams on 07847 282614.

A warm welcome awaits visitors at the Maesteg Celtic Club on Thursday evenings at 7pm.

Macmillan morning
THERE will be a coffee morning with homemade cakes at St David's church hall, Wimborne Road, Pencoed on Saturday, December 5 between 10.30am and 12.30pm, to raise funds for this cause; with live music played by Pencoed Ukulele Band.

First aid courses
BRIDGEND Communities First is organising a free first aid course at Betws Life Centre on November 25 from 9.15am to 3.30pm.

It is also organising a free first aid course at Sarn Lifelong Learning Centre on November 30 from 9.15am to 12pm and December 2 from 12pm to 3pm, open to all residents in a Communities First postcode area who are able to attend both days.

Advance booking is required. Call Jenny on 01656 643693, or 07815 525017.

It is also organising a free food safety course (Level 2) at North Cornelly Community Centre on November 25 from 9.30am to 3.30pm.

This shows how to prepare, store and re-heat food safely and recognise common food hazards.

Advance booking is required; telephone Jess on 0165634 or 07974 399194

Ladies' choir
CÔR Merched Cwm Llynfi (Llynfi Valley ladies choir) is on its travels again but this time only to the Garw Valley.

It will be appearing in a concert with Garw Valley male choir and soloist Aled Williams at Blaengarw Working Men's Club on December 4.

It is being held to raise funds for the charity Children of Chernobyl Lifeline; tickets £5 available on 07989 506154 or at the door.

The choir would welcome new members and rehearses on Wednesday evenings at the Catholic Church Our Lady and St Patrick, Monica Street, Maesteg at 7pm.

Festive diary

MYNYDD Cynffig WI president Marjorie Goode welcomed members and opened the November meeting.

The weather was atrocious but there was a good turnout of members, and a bring and buy sale was held to raise funds for the WI charity; many Christmas presents were purchased.

A Christmas dinner has been arranged, a trip to the carol festival in Swansea, craft spectacular in Margam Orangery, and a coffee morning are being organised.

The speaker this month was Debra John whose talk was 'Edwardian Maid'. She spoke to the members as though they were applying for a job in the big house, and told them how the upstairs and downstairs maids worked (and the case of the footmen who didn't work). There is no speaker next month as it's the Christmas party.

Members are all looking to 'pass the parcel', much laughter and good food and a little wine!

Mynydd Cynffig WI meets in the Talbot Centre, Prince Road, Kenfig Hill on the second Tuesday of the month. Lady visitors are welcome!

Children's choir

ON November 21, Maesteg Children's Choir will be holding its 30th anniversary concert in Maesteg town hall, at 7pm.

More than 30 former members will be performing with the present choir.

Enid-Sian Hughes will conduct the choir and the accompanist is Ryan Wood.

The compere will be Mr Tony Mullins, who has given time and support to the choir over the years.

He will be joined by Kayley Thomas of BBC Radio Wales, who was a member of the choir.

Good attendance
TYNRYHEOL primary school's attendance figure to date stands at 95.7 per cent which at the moment, is above target.

The headteacher has thanked everyone's fundraising efforts for the BBC's Children in Need charity. The small school achieved the magnificent sum of £100.

She would also like to thank those families who made up the shoeboxes as part of the school's Christmas Shoebox appeal. It had received 32 shoeboxes on the day.

Next week is national Anti-Bullying Week; as part of the school's efforts, it will be defining what a bully is and what it means to be bullied, through assemblies and class activities.

The school council will be involved in devising a child friendly policy for bullying and will be selling bands for £1 in support of its efforts.

The school will also be having an anti-bullying day on November 20.

It is asking the pupils to bring £1 and to wear blue.

This money will go towards items in the school to promote positive behaviour and friendship such as a friendship bench and playground markings for collaborative play.

Pupils entertain

ABERKENFIG and District WI president Eunice Williams welcomed members and visitor Eunice Jones to the meeting on November 11.

She introduced special guests for the afternoon - Tondur school choir with two teachers and a teaching assistant.

The children sang several songs including the now very well known Any Dream Will Do from the musical Joseph And His Technicolour Dreamcoat which the choir enjoyed singing as much as the ladies loved listening to them.

The children then wasted no time in dispatching the biscuits, cakes and squash that was waiting for them!

The tree for Tondur Wesley Church Christmas tree festival will be taken to the church on December 1 ready for the service on December 9.

The December meeting is at 2pm. On December 9 there will not be a speaker; the competition will be for a Christmassy item.

Aberkenfig and District WI meets on the second Wednesday of each month.

The Garnwen Trust receives the Wales Volunteer of the Year award trophy from Janice Gregory, the AM for Ogmore.

Rosalind Griffiths from Y Bont receiving outstanding volunteer award from Mark Standley (Handelsbanken).

Cwm Ogwr Running Club receives a highly commended certificate from Janice Gregory AM.

Volunteer of the Year award over-25 - Maria Hall from Caerau Development Trust.

Volunteer of the Year award, under-25 - Gerianne Severson from AYPD.

Volunteer Project of the Year award (sponsored by United Graphic Design - 'Special Families').

BRIDGEND Association of Voluntary Organisations (BAVO) recently held its annual Bridgend county borough volunteer achievement awards at the Heronston Hotel, Bridgend.

Compèred by Lee Jukes from Bridge FM, special guests included Janice Gregory AM, Huw Irranca Davies MP, Jayne James - Mid Glamorgan High Sheriff, the Vocalmotion school choir and soloist Emily March from Ysgol Brynteg.

Volunteers take on a wide range of tasks, giving up their time to make their community a better place, yet often receiving little, if any recognition for their commitment and energy. The awards are designed to recognise and honour outstanding people and organisations that have made a significant contribution to our community in the last year.

Janice Gregory commented: "It was an enormous privilege to once again support and present BAVO's volunteer awards. Working with the voluntary sector has been an important thread running through all my time as an Assembly member. "One of the most rewarding aspects of being a constituency member is the opportunity to discover the huge range of voluntary groups which operate in our area and help make our society function - and the large number of volunteers who give their time to make that possible.

"I hope that Government and public bodies at all levels are increasingly aware of how much the voluntary sector contributes. Furthermore, how much we can learn from the experience of the sector and the importance of making it easier, rather than harder, for voluntary organisations and volunteers to achieve their goals for the benefit of the community as a whole.

"I want to give my personal thanks for making the difference to so many in our society." Award winners were: Volunteer of the Year award under 25 - Gerianne Severson from AYPD; Sports Volunteer of the Year award (sponsored by Calan Translators) - Ceri Jones from AYPD; Befriending/Mentoring Volunteer award (sponsored by Valleys to Coast) - Huw Owen from Community Companions Project; Volunteer of the Year award over 25 - Maria Hall from Caerau Development Trust; Trustee of the Year Award - Paula Lunn from KPC Youth & Community; Charity Shop of the Year award - Heather Morris from Ty Hafan; Volunteer Project of the Year award (sponsored by United Graphic Design) - Special Families; Outstanding Volunteer Contribution award (sponsored by Handelsbanken) - Rosalind Griffiths from Y Bont.

Bridgend County Borough Volunteer Achievement Awards 'Highly Commended' certificates were presented by Janice Gregory AM to: April Bailes (Mental Health Matters Wales), Louisa Bird (Mental Health Matters Wales), Antony Bowen (Cartrefi Cymru), Pam Bryant (Splice Project), Daniel Evans (Maesteg Canoe Club), Kirsten Howard (Y Bont), Katie Humphries (Wildmill Youth Club), Vernon Hunt (Community Companions Project), Jasmine King (AYPD), Roy Meredith (Maesteg Town Council), Jade McBride (Ty Hafan), Trevor Morris (Shaw Trust), Andrew Walters (Maesteg Park Football Club), Lynda Williams (River Care Group), Cwm Ogwr Running Club and Bad Bikes.

Individuals and groups were also presented with winner's trophies and 'highly commended' certificates. Presented by Huw Irranca Davies, two winners, Daniel Matthews (Action for Children) and The Garnwen Trust received trophies.

'Highly Commended' certificates were also presented by Janice Gregory AM to Graham Carroll (The Wallich), Emma Dowling (The Moving Forward Project - SOVA), Yvonne Gardener (Parc Supporting Families), Simon Green (Bridgend Coalition of Disabled People), Gwalia Howells (Parc Supporting Families), Lisa Lewis (Badgers Allotment) and Parc Supporting Families. Tegryn Bevan (Prime Cymru) also received a certificate but was unable to attend.

BAVO's Chief Executive, Heidi Bennett said: "With more nominations coming through, the task of the judging panel was

Young actors and technicians share time in the spotlight

Ellis Griffiths receives his award.

YOUNG people in Bridgend county borough who have an eye on a career in the creative arts were given a taste of the limelight recently at a glitzy film premiere in the Wales Millennium Centre (WMC).

It was 12 years ago that the It's My Shout project made its debut. It was the brainchild of Roger Burnell, and in those days it was a spin-off from the Bridgend Youth Theatre.

In its early days films were shot, in the main, in Bridgend county borough, but it has now grown into a Wales-wide scheme.

An It's My Shout spokeswoman said: "The latest consignment of short films produced under the 'It's My Shout' film/TV training scheme were showcased at the WMC. This year over 800 young people from across Wales took part in the scheme at various stages of production."

"The training scheme is a unique initiative for young people looking to explore media industry jobs including: acting, writing, directing, camera, sound, lighting, set and prop design, costume, make-up and hair, production co-ordinating and event management by providing hands-on training alongside skilled industry professionals."

"Younger participants in this annual scheme often go on to study their chosen area on FE or HE courses and many of the experienced trainees gain employment within the industry as a direct result of the scheme. Many trainees from this year's scheme have already gone on to professional positions in the industry."

Apart from the eight short films, 20 young documentary makers have made six documentaries to accompany each of the films broadcast on BBC Cymru Wales. The short films are due to be shown in late November and on through December, starting this Wednesday (November 18).

Roger Burnell, who is still the artistic director of the Bridgend Youth Theatre (BYT) said: "Having a passion for unearthing and nurturing talent throughout my career, sometimes from unlikely backgrounds, makes it extremely rewarding to see so many people respond so positively."

"Hopefully we are helping to engage and stimulate activity throughout Wales, nurturing individuals and communities with of this burgeoning industry.

"This is an industry that potentially has such an important place in the growth of our nation; Wales punches above its weight, and we need to continue to develop talents, some of which are still lying dormant and subdued within our communities."

He continued "It's My Shout has gone from strength to strength and has expanded its portfolio of film, business, community and education partners. Many films from previous years have been screened all over the world; one of the films, Walk or Fly, made in Pontypridd was selected for the Berlin Film Festival, and was shown on Russian State Television, reaching over 20 million people."

The films this year were produced in collaboration with BBC Cymru Wales, and two Welsh language films in association with S4C.

Other key partners are Arts Council of Wales, Sony, Welsh Government and many local authorities and colleges.

The eight films were shot on location in Carmarthenshire, Rhondda Valleys, Gwynedd, Bridgend, Torfaen, Caerphilly and Cardiff Inner-City.

The showcase evening also featured an awards ceremony, with awards handed out to the best trainees and best young actors as well as special awards for the best film, trainee of the year and a community award.

Hundreds of industry mentors, actors, celebrities and supporters of the scheme came along to enjoy the premiere event alongside the trainees. These included the First Minister, Carwyn Jones.

'It's My Shout' talented individuals and groups from all over Wales performed at a pre-show event from 5pm before the films were screened.

Two young men from Bridgend county borough received awards. The 'Best Sound Trainee' was Daniel Jones, 23, who is in his second year with It's My Shout. This year Daniel was able to move into composition, as well as continuing as a sound recordist trainee.

The 'Trainee of the Year' award went to Ellis Griffiths, 19, from Bridgend, who was very busy over the summer. He worked on all of the eight films and since had found paid work on Dr Who, Midsummer Nights Dream (BBC Wales) and the Bastard Executioner (Fox Studios).

The award for Best Film went to Stone Soup which was made with the communities of Butetown, Grangetown and Riverside.

Details of locations and titles for each of the short films.

Which Way is Ireland filmed in Bangor, North Wales with students from Coleg Menai. This film is on Wednesday, November 18, at 11.15pm, BBC2 Wales.

Hiraeth filmed in Carmarthenshire (November 25, 11.15pm).

Stone Soup filmed in Cardiff Bay. To be shown on Thursday, November 19, BBC2 Wales, 11.15pm.

Pwyll filmed in the Rhondda Valleys (Tonight, November 16, S4C, 7.45pm with subtitles).

Russell and Jameela filmed in Caerphilly (December 2, 11.15pm).

First Sign of Love filmed in Bridgend county borough (November 26, 11.15pm).

Wedding Car filmed in Torfaen (December 3, 11.15pm).

Pili Palod Penygroes filmed in Caernarfon, North Wales (Friday, November 20, on S4C 7.45pm with subtitles).

It's My Shout operates training programmes throughout the year, from community projects to feature films - all with the focus on nurturing new talent in Wales.

FORMER BYT ACTRESS AMY IS AN 'INSPIRATION'

A YOUNG actress from Bridgend was singled out as an "inspiration" for young people at the It's My Shout awards evening, held recently in Cardiff.

Amy Morgan was a pupil at Pencoed Comprehensive School, and a prominent member of the Bridgend Youth Theatre (BYT), and also featured in many IMS films and worked in the production office.

Following this Amy completed her training at Royal Welsh College of Music and Drama and her career has gone from strength to strength, providing inspiration for her peers and the next generation of Welsh talent. She has worked with the National Theatre, and in many West End productions.

Her most recent role is in Mr Selfridge as shop assistant Grace Calthorpe. You may have also seen Amy in the BBC Wales drama, Baker Boys.

Philip Irwin writes: In many ways, Amy's time with the BYT was a bit of a golden age. BYT director Roger Burnell had a strong cast to work with, and Amy shared the lead with Aneurin Barnard in a number of shows.

I know a number of people who still talk about the BYT's Singing in the Rain, where Amy played Kathy Selden (the Debbie Reynolds role). Aneurin played Don Lockwood, Katie Salt played Lina Lamont and James Morgan played Cosmo, and it was an amazing show.

The previous year, Amy had showed her versatility by playing the devil's temptress 'Lola' in Damn Yankees. Aneurin was the male lead in this show too, and Lola was sent by the Devil to lure him off the straight and narrow. It was a long way from Kathy Selden.

She didn't just shine at the BYT. One of the very best school shows I ever reviewed for The GEM was Pencoed Comprehensive's West Side Story, where Amy played Anita and Rhian Davies played Maria.

The school's drama teacher Mary Jeffreys persuaded (or perhaps press ganged) the school rugby boys to be the Sharks and the Jets, and the result was a truly stunning show.

On stage at the Wales Millennium Centre, Roger Burnell was delighted to present her Inspiration award personally, and talked about how, despite her obvious talent, she had always been easy to guide.

He said she was one of the girls, who was just happy hanging out with friends, until she would step onstage and be transformed.

He added: "Amy applied herself to everything she did, and I can honestly say that when she was helping out in the It's My Shout office, she turned out to be the best production assistant we had too."

Tax credits: WHY PENALISE THE LOWER PAID?

THERE was a time in this country when we helped people to get into work. We told them that it paid and that working would always mean that they were better off than being on benefits.

That is changing. We now have a Government in London that wants to bin that, and to penalise those who work hard for their families but are on low pay.

Nothing illustrates this more than the proposals to do away with tax credits, a system that has helped so many people into work, and has helped raise their incomes, despite being on low pay.

In Wales, 134,600 families will be at risk of losing an average of £1,300 every year, with some losing £3,000 next April. This represents a cut of 10 per cent in the income of the lowest paid in society and it comes at a time when tax rates for high earners have been cut.

by Carwyn Jones, AM for Bridgend and First Minister

Why attack low paid people in this way? It wasn't them who caused the financial crash in 2007. It wasn't those looking after the elderly who loaned money to those who couldn't pay. It wasn't those helping with children who caused the Northern Rock to collapse. Yet these are precisely the people who are being made to pay.

Those in the financial sector whose recklessness crashed the world economy in 2007 haven't paid their share. They still get bonuses and they still have their tax breaks, but those on £11,000 get penalised.

It's true to say that the living wage will be increased, and nobody would argue with that in principle, but the financial burden for that will be borne by businesses, many of whom have said that they can't pay it.

What the UK Government has done is transfer the financial responsibility from government to business to help the lowest paid; it has abdicated its responsibilities towards them.

So, people who can ill afford it will lose out the most, and many businesses might go to the wall. At the same time, those who bear the most blame will prosper.

On top of that, those people who will lose tax credits will have less money to spend, and that means the local businesses that they use will suffer because that money isn't making its way to them to help them to continue.

Who said we're all in this together?

Local sixth formers aim to beat Children in Need school record

Pupils and staff under sponge attack.

I WAS invited by Coleg Cymunedol Y Dderwen (Ynysawdre Comprehensive) school's sixth formers on the school council to witness a few of the energetic events they were organising to raise money for the BBC's 'Children in Need' charity.

It was amazing the number of events it had arranged and the organisers were optimistic about raising at least £4,000, which would be a school record!

The events were 'Name the Bear' quiz (50p) in the atrium; inter-college dodgeball tournament in the sports hall all week; non-uniform day - £1 each; Children in Need merchandise available to buy in E block; 'Rub-a-Dub-Dub 6 Head Of College in a Tub!' event in the main hall; Sponge a Teacher; year-11 music band performing in the main hall; school council cake sale in the atrium; Year-12 and 13 music bands performing in the main hall; Mr Brain initiation in the main hall; staff v sixth form dodgeball in the sports hall; stay awake-athon, 7pm Friday to 7am Saturday (200 pupils, 20 staff).

The members of the school council would like to thank the following for sponsoring their efforts: Gwyn Jones Coaches, Grand Pavilion, Porthcawl, Swansea Grand Theatre, Task Force Skirmish, Cowbridge.

RAISING THE ROOF TO UPGRADE CONSERVATORIES

Once the preserve of the wealthy who wanted to cultivate exotic species of flora, today it's estimated that around one in five UK homes have a conservatory.

Offering additional light, with relatively fast construction times, up to 200,000 conservatories were built per year during the height of their popularity.

However, some homeowners found that the full glare of the sun in summer and chilly temperatures in winter made older conservatories uncomfortable, with the only solution being a costly rebuild.

The good news is that building technology has moved on and, as with glazing, there are some thermally efficient roof options now on the market that can be added to the existing conservatory structure.

'Activ' Glass roof

A straightforward upgrade for those who want to keep an uninterrupted view of the blue skies up above is to opt for a modern, low emissivity (low-e) 'Activ', energy efficient glass roof.

Helping to reduce the variations in temperature associated with older, traditional glass or polycarbonate roofs, 'Activ' low-e glass helps cut solar glare, protect furniture from fading and keep heat in during the winter months.

For even greater insulation there are now two solid roof options that can be retrofitted to an existing conservatory, without the need for significant structural modifications.

Tiled roof

The new, lightweight, tiled roof takes its design cues from the slates and tiles found on most UK houses. As a result it works well on most properties and comes in a range of finishes to match any existing architecture.

Created using aluminium panels, with Kingspan insulation, these roofs can achieve a u value of just 0.18, similar to that of a normally constructed, modern roof.

With this option, the interior of the conservatory can include a plastered ceiling with down-lighters or even roof windows to keep the view of the stars.

LivingRoof

For a more contemporary feel, there is a third option called the LivingRoof. This modern roof combines the sleek lines of a glass roof with the shade and thermal efficiency of a solid conservatory roof to create something that looks and feels very contemporary.

With the LivingRoof, entire panels can be replaced with glass to create a hybrid solid and glass roof meaning the homeowner can choose where to have shaded areas and where to have more light.

Once again there is the option to plaster the interior ceiling and add down-lighters. The LivingRoof also comes with the option of adding orangery detailing to enhance the interior and exterior styling of the conservatory.

Nursery pupils dress up for Pudsey.

PUDSEY HEROES RAISED CASH FOR CHILDREN IN NEED APPEAL

Sixth Form "slaves" for the day.

STAFF and pupils from St Clare's School, Porthcawl made a tremendous effort for Children in Need this year.

Pupils from the nursery, prep and senior schools dressed up as heroes or villains to raise money for Pudsey Bear.

There were plenty of activities arranged across the school throughout the day which raised over £1,000. Much of the fundraising was co-ordinated by members of the sixth form, who came to school in fancy dress and spent the day collecting money for the BBC appeal.

Visitors to the school may have been surprised to see quite so many Spidermen, Batmen and Robins in one school!

During a special assembly, younger pupils had the chance to bid for a sixth former to be their 'Slave for the Day'. The winning bidders became their 'Masters', instructing them to do any tasks they wished, from buying their lunch to carrying their bags all day!

Over in the prep school, there was a raffle and a cake sale, and pupils put their coins on a giant Pudsey Bear, all for Children in Need.

Headmaster, Simon Antwis said: "I'm delighted that we've raised more than £1,000 for Children in Need. I'd like to take this opportunity to congratulate our remarkable young people for raising such an amazing amount of money."

Writers' circle invite entries

Closing date is January 31, 2016 and rules, conditions of entry and entry form can be viewed on the website - Google 'Bridgend Writers' Circle'.

Bridgend Writers' Circle meets at Carnegie House, Bridgend, on the first Thursday of the month, at 7.15pm; new members welcome.

PACT meetings

CADOC - Meet Your local officers at Waitrose on Thursday, November 26 between 10am and 2pm.

DYFAN - Sunday, December 6 at Highlight Park Community Centre at 7.30pm.

OLDCASTLE at Brynteg Lower School Library on Wednesday, November 25 at 6.30pm.

RHOOSE - Coffee and a chat on Monday, November 30 at the Highwayman Inn at 11am.

Madeleine Moon gets on her bike for Poppy Appeal

RECENTLY, Madeleine Moon, MP for Bridgend, took part in a charity static bike ride in Parliament to raise money for the Poppy Appeal.

She cycled 1.63 km in five minutes, as part of the event being hosted by the Industry and Parliament Trust (IPT) which aimed to get parliamentarians cycling for 12 hours straight.

The event followed on from the success of a previous IPT static bike ride in 2012, when money was raised for the Poppy Factory.

The money raised will help the Royal British Legion provide lifelong support for the armed forces community.

Mrs Moon said: "I was pleased to be able to support the Royal British Legion and the Poppy Appeal by taking part in the charity bike ride and I am grateful to the IPT for hosting the event."

"By giving up just five minutes of my day, I have helped to raise money which will positively affect the lives of thousands of people across the UK."

"As a member of the House of Commons Defence Select Committee, I have seen first-hand the vital support that the Legion provides to former service personnel and their families in Bridgend and across the country."

"I attended a moving ceremony at Carnegie House in Bridgend during which pupils from Nottage and Mynydd Cynffig Primary Schools laid wreaths on my behalf."

"Other remembrance services took place at All Saints in Porthcawl and in Kenfig Hill. I encourage others to give what they can to the Appeal."

Madeleine Moon takes part in the cycling event.

Nick Maher, CEO of the IPT, added: "I am extremely grateful to Madeleine and everyone else who took time out of their busy schedule to take part in the bike ride. The support we received from staff and members of both Houses was fantastic and I know the money raised will go far in supporting those who need it most."

"While it was a novel way to raise money for charity, the work of the Royal British Legion is essential to the lives of thousands of families across the UK and it was brilliant to see so many parliamentarians getting involved and enjoying themselves on the bike to raise money for such a worthwhile cause."

Cloudy2Clear Windows - Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes - not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Branch Manager Phil Powell feels that it's all about service. "Our product is simple. If your double glazing is steamed up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole."

Cloudy2Clear service the Vale, Bridgend, BCT and Porthcawl areas and Phil is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. "The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated."

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Phil a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Verona flights from Cardiff Airport:

Flybe announces new route in summer schedule

FLYBE, Europe's largest regional airline, this week revealed its 2016 summer schedule from Cardiff Airport including a new route to Verona, in total offering passengers a choice of up to 120 flights a week.

Tickets are available for booking now at www.flybe.com with one-way fares from £24.99, including taxes and charges, and available for travel from March 27 through to September 30, 2016.

"The new route to Verona will operate on Saturdays. This romantic city is located in northern Italy and is particularly famous as the setting for Shakespeare's play Romeo and Juliet, also being a 'must see' destination for lovers of architecture and opera," a spokeswoman said.

Other highlights of Flybe's summer schedule include increased frequencies on Milan and Faro which will both operate four times per week.

The launch of Verona brings the total number of Flybe routes operating at Cardiff to 14, including two winter services to Chambery and Geneva. The 2015-16 winter ski routes will continue through to April 16 to accommodate those travelling over the Easter holiday period.

Debra Barber, managing director at Cardiff Airport said: "We are delighted Flybe has chosen to add a 14th route to Verona to its Cardiff base. It is also testament to the popularity of flights to Faro and Milan that Flybe has increased frequencies to these destinations to meet demand."

"We know customers want more choice and this announcement provides more flight options for travellers to and from Wales, plus offers great value for money."

Other Flybe routes operated to/from Cardiff during summer 2016 will include: Belfast, Cork, Dublin, Dusseldorf, Edinburgh, Glasgow, Jersey, Munich and Paris.

BRIDGEND APPRENTICES

HANDED TOP AWARDS

A TALENTED young apprentice from Bridgend who works at Dow Corning in the Vale, has won the Welsh Outstanding apprentice award at this year's prestigious EEF/Aldermore Future Manufacturing Awards.

James Brearley (aged 21), won the outstanding final year apprentice award, sponsored by JAM Recruitment.

Another Bridgend apprentice, Nia David (20), from Olympus Surgical Technologies Europe, was runner-up for the outstanding first year apprentice award, also sponsored by JAM Recruitment.

They beat off competition from ten other apprentices across the region, after impressing judges with their dedication to their apprenticeships and determination to pursue careers in manufacturing.

James is now in the running for the national title. He will be going head-to-head with other winners from across the UK at the national awards being held in London in January next year.

He said: "I'm delighted and shocked to have won this award. It's a great feeling to be recognised in this way for doing something I genuinely enjoy and that is setting me up for life. I'm only at the very start of my career in manufacturing and already it is proving to be both rewarding and challenging in equal measure."

"I can't wait now for the national finals next year, where I'll have another chance to prove myself."

Nia David commented: "I've met lots of great apprentices who are dedicated, hard-working and inspirational, which is why I am so honoured to accept this award."

"I hope my success encourages more apprentices to enter these awards, and other young people to seriously consider becoming an apprentice too."

The Gleemen at Arnhem Cemetery.

The Gleemen in St John's Cathedral, S-Hertogenbosch.

Moving visit
THE Maesteg Gleemen have recently returned from a tour to s-Hertogenbosch in Holland to commemorate the liberation of the city in which the 53rd Royal Welsh Regiment played a major part.

The choir were following in the footsteps of 26 previous choirs from Wales invited to the commemorations. It began on October 26 with an impromptu performance in St John's Cathedral, which was unforgettable.

This was followed by a civic reception at the town hall. Chief executive Jan de-Witt welcomed the choir and friends with a heartfelt speech on the debt the city owes to its liberators.

The party were then taken on a tour of the town hall and were shown artefacts, memorabilia and tributes to the Welsh regiment, including two massive windows engraved with all the names of those who lost their lives in the campaign.

The choir then left for the De Talin old people's home for an afternoon performance for the residents, which has become an annual event for visiting choirs.

Next day the choir left for the Welsh monument, the only one on the Continent, for a service with the mixed choir of s-Hertogenbosch, and wreath laying.

Later that day, the Gleemen were invited to sing at the official opening of the 'Royal Welsh Bridge', again named after the liberators. The choir sang two items, Gwahoddiad and the Celtic Anthem before the official unveiling of the plaque.

The names of the 146 men who died in the liberation of the city are forever immortalised on the massive structure of the bridge.

That evening the choir left for the commemoration concert in the massive 860 seat Theatre aan-de-Parade, which was full to capacity. They performed a joint concert with the Gemend koor s-Hertogdenbosch, a mixed choir.

The performance ended with a rendering of the 'World War Two Requiem', anthems were sung and everyone left feeling uplifted.

On October 28, the choir went to Arnhem cemetery, where they sang and laid wreaths to the fallen; afterwards they left for Nijmegen. A social evening followed with the mixed choir of Denbosch at their practice venue in the sports centre.

On their way home next day they stopped off in Ypres to visit the Menin Gate where they sang two songs and the Welsh National Anthem, and laid wreaths to the fallen.

They travelled on to the new Welsh Monument in Ypres to lay wreaths and again sing the anthem. They then continued their journey home to Wales, with fond memories of a very emotional experience they will never forget.

All agreed how humbling it was to encounter such gratitude and appreciation, after so many years, for the people of Wales from the people of s-Hertogenbosch.

Robbers raid shop in village

DI Paddison continued: "It was a nasty robbery and I believe those responsible are from the area. They have acted with total disregard for the importance of the shop to people in the village and absolutely no care for the welfare of the victims, who have been left traumatised by what they have been through."

"Somebody will know something and I am urging them to do the right thing by their community and call us."

"We are following up a number of lines of enquiry and we have released CCTV of the two suspects in the hope that somebody may put two and two together."

They can remain anonymous if they wish by contacting Crimestoppers."

Anyone who does have information is urged to contact Bridgend CID via 101 quoting reference *424842 or call Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Man's attack on partner was 'entirely out of character'

man who, after a birthday celebration, attacked his partner, striking her unconscious, has been sentenced to 18 months' imprisonment, suspended for two years, at Cardiff Crown Court.

Gareth Davies (30), who had no previous convictions, was said by his solicitor Adam Sharp, to have been thought of as a decent, caring person, and who behaved entirely out of character.

Davies, of Woodland Place, had admitted before Bridgend Magistrates, charges of causing actual bodily harm, assault by beating and causing damage, and had been committed to the Crown Court for sentence.

Prosecutor Tim

REPORT by AJ SICLUNA

Naylor said that on July 10, Davies and his partner Kelly Gates and others, were celebrating a birthday at Neath Working Men's Club.

At about 9.30pm in the disco room, a friend of the defendant put his arm around Miss Gates. Davies objected and punched her in the face.

They went outside and argued before returning to her home in Maesteg.

Davies appeared to be drunk, said Mr Naylor, and Miss Gates was warned of this and went home. At about 3am, he went to her home where they argued.

He picked up a lid, threw it and broke a glass panel.

In the street, he punched and kicked Miss Gates a number of times, and she fell to the ground.

When a teenage girl intervened, she was struck too.

Miss Gates had injuries to her cheek and lip and bruising. The girl also suffered bruising.

Mr Sharp said Davies had been in the relationship for about a year and until the incident, had lived a normal, law-abiding life.

"At the time, he had been bottling up his emotions and drinking heavily. Miss Gates didn't suffer any long-lasting injury, and she does not harbour any ill feeling towards him."

Mr Sharp said Davies had to live with the guilt of what he did.

He said that recently, following an operation, Davies had suffered serious complications.

"Sadly, alcohol was a prominent feature of this behaviour."

Davies was also ordered to observe a four-month curfew between 8pm and 6am. In addition, he was directed to pay a criminal court charge of £900, plus £425 prosecution costs.

Organ donations: changes imminent

WITH just weeks to go until the organ donation law changes in Wales, people are being urged to register their decision ahead of December 1.

As part of the ongoing

It's Time to Choose campaign, an information roadshow and digital countdown van will be touring Wales to inform people about the changes to the organ donation law and will visit 18 locations between November 23 and 27. The roadshow will be in Bridgend on Friday, November 27 at Asda from 9am to 12pm and at Asda, Cardiff Bay from 2pm - 5pm.

On December 1, Wales will become the first country in the UK to introduce a soft opt-out system. The new system will make it easier for people to make a decision about whether or not they want to become organ donors.

Under the new system, if people have not registered a decision to become an organ donor (opted in) or a decision not to become an organ donor (opted out), they will be considered as having no objection to being an organ donor - this is known as deemed consent.

Know more about pancreatic cancer

TRAGICALLY, just four per cent of people with pancreatic cancer in Wales live for five years or more after diagnosis, and more than 400 people in Wales die of the disease every year.

I would like to invite your readers to learn more about the symptoms of pancreatic cancer and help us spread the word about this dreadful disease, because in Wales as across the rest of the world, we simply don't know enough about it.

Yet if more people were aware of the potential symptoms, which include tummy pain, itchy skin or eyes, yellow skin, or unexplained weight loss, more people could be diagnosed earlier.

And we know that the earlier people are diagnosed, the longer they are likely to live. Your readers can find more vital information at www.worldpancreaticcancerday.org.

LOCAL SOROPTIMISTS TAKE CENTRE STAGE AT CONFERENCE

EIGHT members of Barry and District Soroptimist Club were among over 1,000 delegates from 23 countries who attended the 81st Federation conference of Soroptimist International Great Britain and Ireland, held in Glasgow in early November.

The central theme was 'Delivering the Difference', and one of the key speakers was Dame Stella Rimington, former director general of MI5.

Dame Stella, who was the first female director of MI5, is now a best-selling author of spy thrillers. She informed the delegates that women helped change MI5, and the image of the service for the better.

Other speakers included Joe Fairley, co-founder of the internationally successful Green and Black Chocolate, Sarah Montague of Radio 4's Today programme, Hon Justice Rowan Dowling, who recently completed eight and a half years as a judge on the Extraordinary Chamber of the Courts in Cambodia, dealing with war crimes, Andrew Bevan, who works for International Justice Mission UK, and Olivia Giles who founded the charity 500 miles.

The Princess Royal attended the Friday morning session and spoke about the work of Save the Children charity. She was presented with a cheque for £4,000, a donation from Soroptimists to the work of the charity, which is currently appealing for funds to support refugee children in camps around Syria.

Two members of the club, joint programme action officers Jackie Memory and Pat Salt, addressed delegates on Kiva and their workshops with local primary schoolchildren 'Helping to Make a Difference'.

KIVA is an American non-profit making organisation which uses the internet and a worldwide network of microfinance institutions to facilitate loans. Through the club's involvement with KIVA, it has found a sustainable way to improve access to economic empowerment; provide educational opportunities both at home and abroad and enable women to find employment which will improve their lifestyle and those of their families.

At present, the club is supporting women in a variety of countries, including Vietnam, Uganda, Nicaragua, Kyrgyzstan, Azerbaijan and El Salvador. By donating loans in units of $25, projects have been funded to help women develop businesses, gain academic qualifications, improve sanitation in their environments, and access clean energy.

Once the loans have been repaid, money can be reinvested in further projects.

Another member of the club, Judith Lewis, director of finance for Soroptimist International Great Britain and Ireland, presented the annual accounts to the conference. She also proposed three financial resolutions, all of which were approved, which will result in a reduction in capitation fees for all members, both in the UK and, more significantly, for members in countries outside these islands.

The hope is that this will assist in the recruitment of new members to allow us to help even more women and girls.

To find out more about the club, visit www.sigbi.org/barry-and-district.

BRICKWORK students at Cardiff and Vale College are one year ahead of their courses already – and the first full term hasn't even finished yet.

As part of the College's drive to ensure students are employable, Level 2 Brickwork students have been given Level 3 work to do on top of their course. This extra work includes the sort of decorative brickwork such as building archways, which employers in the construction industry want from their workforce.

Trowel Trades Lecturer Chris Bridgeman said: "Some of the jobs they're doing haven't really challenged them enough, so we wanted to give them the skills they will need when they go into the industry. The quality of the work they've been doing has been pretty good and it's been good to see them challenge themselves."

Fellow Trowel Trades Lecturer Paul Sebburn added: "We're trying to push them and it keeps the students interested. These are the skills they will need when they go into the industry."

"There's such a demand for bricklayers at the moment, so we are trying to push them so they have the skills to get out there and get employed straight away. We want our students to be industry ready when they leave, not just qualified."

Student Daniel Muratore said: "The course is fun; it's challenging but I really like it. Hopefully, I'll be able to get straight into a job or an apprenticeship in bricklaying after this course."

Patient project in line for award

A PARTNERSHIP between the Vale Council, City of Cardiff Council, Cardiff and Vale University Health Board, Care and Repair Cymru and Age Connects Cymru, is in line for a national housing award.

The accommodation solutions project, which helps smooth transition from hospital to home, has been shortlisted in the Welsh Housing Awards.

The project is designed to help patients who are ready for discharge from hospital but cannot return to their homes due to housing issues, such as the need for adaptations. The five organisations work together to fast-track low level adaptations to patients' houses so that they and return home as quickly as possible.

Where this isn't possible, the team arrange a stay in one of nine specially designed apartments to aid their recovery.

The awards ceremony takes place on November 27 at the Vale Resort.

Four choirs in a charity fundraiser

DYFFRYN Gardens at St Nicholas in the Vale of Glamorgan is putting on three charity Christmas choir concerts this December to fundraise for its fountain project.

As many visitors may have noticed, there is a large concrete pit at the bottom of the great lawn; once a majestic fountain pool, the water feature has fallen into disrepair and has lain dry for many years, due to very leaky foundations.

After a very successful project, undertaken this year, to restore three of the garden rooms to their former glory the team at Dyffryn Gardens has set their sights on their next project; and they are using your Christmas cheer to get them there. All you need to do is book a ticket to one of the three carol concerts happening on December 4, 11 or 18.

Four local choirs are donating their skills and time for free to help Dyffryn launch its fundraising for the fountain: Voicemale, Women in Harmony, Allegra Ladies Choir and Spectrum Singers are all taking part to get you into the festive spirit.

Kate Simons, visitor experience manager at Dyffryn, said: "We are thrilled that all four choirs have given us their time to help us restore the gardens. Most of them have sung with us in the past so they are becoming a real part of our Christmas team. They are incredibly professional choirs too and the calibre is very high, so they are not to be missed!"

Tickets are £15 each and include a glass of bubbly and a mince pie at interval; 90 per cent of the ticket price will go directly into the fountain fundraising pot. The choirs are singing in the beautifully decorated great hall of Dyffryn House on the following dates at 7.30pm.

December 4 – Voicemale and Women in Harmony; December 11 – Allegra ladies choir; December 18 – Spectrum Singers.

Steve Jobs biopic is an iMazing effort...

ONE of the most high-profile figures, both in terms of technology and culture, in recent times, Steve Jobs, the creative brains behind Apple, was also one of the most divisive.

Some point to the impact he had in terms of revolutionising the technology we use to stay in contact with people and listen to music; while others feel he was a figurehead whose profile obscured the true genius responsible for what the company achieved.

Danny Boyle's take on the man (scripted by Aaron Sorkin) hits cinemas, and titled simply Steve Jobs, tells of three key chapters in his life – firstly, Jobs (Michael Fassbender) and Steve Wozniak (Seth Rogen) unveil the first Mac computer; then a fired Jobs launches the NeXT computer; and finally with Jobs returned to Apple, he readies himself for the launch of the iMac, all set against the backdrop of Jobs' troubled relationship with his ex-girlfriend and daughter...

The life of Steve Jobs was certainly anything but mundane; from being at the forefront of innovation to be ejected from his own company, and then making a triumphant return by becoming a technological icon before seeing his life cruelly cut short by a tumour in 2011.

To attempt to coalesce such massive achievements and moments would be ambitious, so director Danny Boyle and Aaron Sorkin's decision to strip it down into three separate sections may not deliver the all encompassing 'cradle to the grave' narrative you so often see, but does provide a detailed insight into the workings of a complicated, driven and, at times, cold man.

The lynchpin of all this is Michael Fassbender, who follows his incredible turn in Macbeth earlier this year with yet another superb performance. We see many sides of Jobs throughout the film – the impresario focused on wowing audiences with his new technology, the cold-hearted 'father' to a young girl, the driven-to-the-point-of-megalomania figurehead, the angrily exiled genius – and Fassbender delivers an incredible performance, convincing throughout.

There is a sense of a character being brought to vivid life, not just a mere impersonation of the man, and Fassbender's Jobs is as elusive and mysterious as you would imagine, never quite knowing what he's likely to do next.

Unsurprisingly, the performances around him are equally as strong; Kate Winslet does a superb job as Jobs' right-hand woman, her moral compass sometimes giving Jobs the guidance he needs; Seth Rogen's pivotal role as Jobs' brother-in-arms turned black sheep Steve Wozniak is well played, while Jeff Daniels offers the steady gravitas as the CEO who makes and then breaks Jobs, giving him the drive and anger to pull off his most audacious move.

These excellent performances come bathed in the dialogue of Aaron Sorkin, whose writing is a complete joy to behold, especially when made real by such a skilled troupe of actors. There is something of the stage about his story construction, a three-act play, and if the use of the same faces converging together at different times feels a little too convenient, then it's easily forgiven when the exchanges are so superbly composed.

Add to that the emotional backbone provided by Jobs' awkward relationship with his daughter (superbly played by all three actresses), and you have the meat to go with the tightly-wound back-and-forths between the characters.

The substance of the screenplay is matched by Danny Boyle's direction, which lacks his usual tricks but delivers a masterclass in subtlety. Boyle's films are usually a visual feast full of quick edits, but here Boyle allows the drama of the script to dominate proceedings, restricting himself to some clever little techniques – back projections of slogans and imagery relating to the story, shooting the three segments in different film stock – but predominantly his camera stalks hallways and stages, creating an intimate and engaging feel.

There are no obvious resolutions, no 'clever-clever' little Easter eggs (save for a reference to making the walkman obsolete); just three snapshots of a genius at work, and it's this minimalist approach that pays dividends, as Steve Jobs is an excellent piece of work.

VERDICT: A clever take on the biopic formula, and one that with the talent involved makes it soar even more than you would hope. Steve Jobs is beguiling, engrossing, mysterious and substantial – not unlike the man himself. Superb performances, wonderful direction and Aaron Sorkin's gorgeous dialogue make this a wondrous effort. Highly recommended.

Research centre honours a brave Grandmother for her tireless fundraising

BARRY
Grandmother Rosina Butler was recently invited to the International Cancer Research Centre in London, where she was invited to unveil a 'Challenger Wall', where fundraisers are recognised for their efforts.

Rosina about to cut the ribbon on the sixth Challenger Wall.

Diagnosed with breast cancer in 2008, Rosina battled through treatment and once fit again felt she would like to help fundraise for the charity. Rosina makes and creates a variety of craft items, including cards, research into new and knitted and sewn items treatments identifying the causes of breast cancer. Initially, fundraising for Breakthrough Breast Cancer, the charity recently merged with the Breast Cancer campaign and is now known as Breast Cancer Now.

It relies solely on donations to fund its work and has, over the last few years, been responsible for many breakthroughs in diagnosis and treatments. In the recent past, Rosina has raised over £5,000 and is continuing to fund raise and act as an ambassador for the charity. Her family are rightly proud of her commitment and dedication.

Information on Breast Cancer Now and the research it carries out can be found at www.breastcancernow.org.

Multiculturalism has run its course... 'WE MUST FOCUS ON INTEGRATION'

FOLLOWING the brutal terrorist attacks in Paris at the weekend, Dr Altaf Hussain AM, a prominent Welsh Muslim, has warned that "multiculturalism has run its course" and that "we must do all we can to encourage the integration of religious and ethnic groups as an urgent matter of policy."

The Welsh Conservative regional AM for South Wales West writes: "As we stand united with France, and stand against the evil that would seek to destroy our freedom in the most abominable way, our focus inevitably now shifts to what our next steps must be in the battle against this evil.

"There will doubtless be much debate as to whether we can or should commit forces to the ground, and rightly the question of how we safeguard our borders will arise.

"These are all vitally important decisions that our governments simply have to get right.

"The events in Paris serve to highlight that we can no longer see this as a distant conflict in a region far removed from our everyday lives – it is a war that is not only on our doorstep, but that has become interwoven with the fabric of our way of life.

"This presents us with challenges, not only in foreign policy, but with questions that arise immediately close to home and require an answer. At the root of the problem we face is the notion of 'multiculturalism'.

"This idea has guided so much of our policy in recent decades – and it is, quite simply, the wrong approach..."

"The idea of having communities that identify on the basis of race, colour or religious faith living side-by-side – yet never properly integrating with each other – is a recipe for discord.

"It creates conditions where a distorted world view – a world view that allows for murder in the name of God, and one that is repugnant to true believers of all faiths – may find an ideal breeding ground.

"When you keep people apart from each other as matter of policy, and encourage communities to develop in parallel whilst never fully integrating with each other, you encourage people not to get to know each other. "When people do not know each other, it is less easy for them to trust and co-operate with each other.

"It is not too difficult to see how an evil mind could, from this starting point, ruthlessly exploit this set of affairs in setting about the task of corrupting young people and brainwashing them into accepting a corrupted world outlook.

"Multiculturalism has run its course. We must focus all our efforts on encouraging integration between all religious, racial and cultural groups – celebrating our diversity and each person's uniqueness – but removing the barriers which keep people apart.

"There is a difficult conversation that we need to have, and one which people of all faiths and political colours have ducked out of for too long.

"The stakes are now too high to avoid this conversation any longer.

"We need to be brave in our approach and have this conversation urgently".

Young farmers are off on their travels!

SEVEN Glamorgan Young Farmers are off on their travels, after gaining places with Wales YFC on the 2016 International Travel Programme.

The selection day was held in The Young Farmers' Centre in the Royal Welsh Showground at Builth Wells.

They all competed against other young farmers in interviews to gain a place on their desired trip.

The programme offers unforgettable experiences and adventures for members to travel the world, learn about different countries and make new friends.

Members can apply for trips as near as Scotland or as far afield as Canada!

Gower YFC member Tom James was successful in gaining a trip to Scotland.

"This is my first time travelling with Wales YFC, I am really looking forward to it!

"The highlight will be visiting the Highland Show!" he said. LE

SPECIAL EVENT BOOSTS A WELSH CANCER CHARITY

THE public is being urged to follow a local day centre's example and help Cancer Research Wales by holding a 'Donation Day.'

Woodlands Day Centre is a day service for adults with learning disabilities and day service officer, Martin Woodsford said: "Each service user embraced the idea of helping the charity. They wanted to give back to the community and help to break down stereotypical barriers; the process has been quite inspirational."

Neil Hopkin-Thomas, on behalf of Cancer Research Wales, said: "We are delighted by the support from the service users and staff at Woodlands."

"We are encouraging all local businesses or places of work to hold a Donation Day and we will come and collect all donations which will stock our shops and in turn fund the incredible research undertaken by the charity."

"Cancer Research Wales funds a great variety of projects in Wales which we feel are important in our battle against cancer.

"These are undertaken in universities and hospitals and cover cancer sites that include cancers of the prostate, colon, breast, kidney, blood (leukaemia), cervix and esophagus."

For more information on holding a Donation Day or project, contact Neil Hopkin-Thomas on 0824 531557.

999 for emergency only

VALE AM Jane Hutt met Chief Superintendent Stuart Parfitt last week to discuss policing across the Vale of Glamorgan.

She emphasised the importance of raising public awareness of the 24/7 public service and urged constituents to call 101 when they need everyday advice and support from the police; as well as the 999 calls they may need to make in times of emergency.

Chief Superintendent Parfitt clarified that the front desk at Barry Police Station is open 8am to 6pm each day and highlighted the following other means of contacting South Wales Police for non-emergencies:

The 101 non-emergency number should be used to report non-urgent crime and for general inquiries.

It's the number to call if your car gets stolen for example, or if you want to report drug use or dealing, if your property gets damaged or to speak to an officer; if you are deaf, hard of hearing or speech-impaired you can textphone 18001 101.

If you are hearing-impaired you can also contact our minicom service on 01656 656980.

Alternatively, you can contact the Public Service Centre by fax on 01656 869562 or email: Publicservicecentre@south-wales.pnn.police.uk

Keep Safe Cymru service users can also register with Next Generation Text Service. The organisation provides an App, which will make it much easier for people with hearing and speech impairment to make phone calls – it can be accessed via: ngis.org.uk.

Vigilance is the word as winter hovers over hives

DESPITE the time of year, the mild conditions are seeing lots of colony activity – pollen is still coming into the hives and brood is present.

To all intents and purposes, the bees should have settled for winter; however, with temperatures around 14°-17°C, there is little chance of this coming about (it would be 4°C normally).

To get through any winter, the bees require sufficient amounts of pollen, plus sealed stores (honey).

Beekeeping literature indicates that the end of September should see all supplementary feeding completed, as this will have given the colony time to process any added foodstuffs that the beekeeper may have provided, and this year's very variable conditions saw many beekeepers having to feed liquid sugar to many colonies in order that they should not starve.

Conditions can't have been that bad, you might say, but although spring started off very well, the following months were wet and often windy.

With these prevailing conditions, bees do not go out foraging and, in any case, many plants would not be open or give up pollen or nectar.

Each colony has a laying Queen and on a daily basis she is laying eggs to expand the workforce of the colony, all of which require sustenance i.e. pollen and nectar.

Within the hive there is much going on, eggs and the larvae that develop from the eggs must have attention, the Queen must be fed and groomed, wax has to be produced plus temperature variations must be maintained to suit the different sections of the hive.

All of this activity requires a ready source of energy, hence the need for in-house stores and as these stores diminish and if bees are confined to the hive, the beekeeper has to step in and lend a much-needed hand.

Then there is, of course, the Varroa to consider – and instantly we have a dilemma present. Current instructions suggest that there should be an absence of brood (especially sealed) if any control is to be undertaken, and if normal weather patterns were present this would indeed be the case right now.

There would be very little brood and the beekeeper could safely discount it and go ahead.

The control of the Varroa is a whole article in itself, but it has to be addressed by all beekeepers.

So is winter here yet? It does not appear to be. The loss of colonies over the coming winter due to lack of stores because of constant activity brought on by mild conditions is a real possibility. A regular check on the bees must become part of the beekeepers routine if such a scenario is to be avoided.

Should we get a sudden cold snap all bee activity, will cease; if stores are in short supply, any feed offered by the beekeeper will be ignored because the bees will not be active enough to process it.

They can, and will, utilise what they have prepared beforehand, but once that is gone the onset of starvation is more than likely to follow.

Feeding the bees is going to be a lot cheaper than having to replace them, so do it now before the weather changes!

The magic of Penarth at Christmas Time

Friendly service, great products... Businesses stand the test of time

Dave Crompton and the team at Cut & Styled Hair Salon are booking in appointments for the Christmas season.

CHRISTMAS is just five weeks away and the festive shopping spree is well under way in Penarth.

What makes the town centre special is reliable, established businesses that have stood the test of time because they deliver excellent products, along with top customer service.

One of the most familiar is Penarth Carpets on Albert Road – celebrating 25 years.

It regularly supplies customers in Penarth, Barry, Cardiff and Newport, but has even sold to customers as far afield as west Wales and London.

The owners, Cathy and Andrew, provide luxury high quality carpets and flooring, and also middle range carpets. The former take around seven to 10 days to arrive, the latter can arrive overnight, so there's ample time to get something done in time for Christmas.

Cathy said: "We do top quality carpets and top brands. We've got a great pair of fitters, too. "We've even had customers writing to the papers to say how good they are. The feedback we get is excellent – that they are really keen, helpful and accommodating."

There's a bewildering array of carpet samples in the showroom to browse through – and friendly advice too.

Cathy added: "If people want to take a swatch back to their house to match up with things, they are welcome."

The shop is open Tuesday to Saturday. For more information, call 02920 704375, or

GOLDEN ERA
For longevity and continuity, one local hairdresser takes some beating. Dave Crompton, of Cut & Styled Hair Salon, will soon celebrate 50 years in the business.

The salon is unisex and specialises in colours and great cuts. It is located in Stanwell Road just a few yards off the main roundabout in Penarth.

Dave has been in the business since the golden era of hairdressing, when British stylists were setting trends across the globe.

Dave said: "I went through the Sassoon years in the 70s. For about 20 years, I took part in competitions around the country winning trophies. I then went on to judging for 15 years."

Although some styles, like perms, are not as prevalent as they once were, Dave is a firm believer that "fashion reinvents itself" – some cuts today resemble those of the 70s and 80s, but have softer looks.

Cut & Styled Hair Salon is a bright, friendly hairdressers, and all clients have to do is call 02920 708328 to book an appointment, or drop in to the business to see when the stylists can fit them in.

The salon will be open until 4pm on Christmas Eve, but closed on Christmas Day and Boxing Day (the Saturday), but open again as usual on the Monday, December 28.

This year's Christmas Festival will take place on Sunday, November 29.

A town council spokesperson said: "The annual parade is Frozen-themed this year and children in the town are encouraged to dress up as their favourite characters and join Elsa and Anna, and Father Christmas as they journey from West House on Stanwell Road to the town centre.

"From 2pm, there will be musical entertainment, donkey rides and fairground attractions on Windsor Road and Lower Glebe Street, as well as festive refreshments and stalls from local organisations.

"The parade will arrive in town at 3.30pm and Father Christmas will be collecting letters from Penarth children to find out what they would like for Christmas, so don't forget yours!

"The lights will be illuminated by broadcast journalist, Fran Donovan at 5pm with help from our Frozen friends. "Entrants to the parade should gather at West House from 2pm and the parade will leave the grounds at 3pm for the journey into town."

On Thursday, December 17, the independent shops of Penarth will be remaining open for 'Late Night Shop in Penarth'.

From 5pm to 8pm, there will be on-street entertainment, festive refreshments and unique shopping opportunities from Penarth's independent stores, from foodie gifts to clothes, to crafts and jewellery.

My Shoebox, run by Jed Finnegan and Elena Iridon, which opened 18 months ago at 5B Stanwell Road, is a stylish addition to the town centre, bringing high-quality, European brand shoes to local people.

The store caters for adults and children.

Elena said: "Among our top names, are Waldlaufer from superb comfort and quality of manufacture.

"Hogl and Legero reflect the attention to detail that Austrian shoes are renowned for. The spirit of English shoe-making is characterised in Loake and Chatham."

A number of shoes are waterproof – a particular favourite brand at the moment is a British one, Cotswold, which is specifically for hard outdoor use.

Jed and Elena go on regular buying trips to Birmingham and London to track down the latest top styles.

Jed said: "We will be opening on the special Christmas late night Thursday on December 17 and for part of Christmas Eve. Our normal opening times are Monday to Saturday, 9am to 5.30pm."

To view My Shoebox shoes online, go to: myshoebox.co.uk; you can also contact them on: 02920 707413.

HEARING SUPPORT

The Scott Wroe Hearing Centre at 1 Station Approach, Penarth, is an independent family-run business offering completely impartial advice and providing the top hearing brands.

Staff listen to customers' questions and concerns so they can select the most appropriate hearing solution for a client's requirements.

The company delivers the highest levels of service and aftercare.

All the hearing aids are provided on a 30-day trial basis and with a fully comprehensive aftercare package to ensure the hearing aid is set correctly throughout its lifespan.

The Penarth store is open Monday to Friday from 9am to 5pm, and on Saturdays, from 9.30am until 1.30pm

PEOPLE LOVE THE ANNUAL CHRISTMAS SWITCH-ON

This year's Christmas Festival will take place on Sunday, November 29.

There's going to be a Frozen theme this year. The lights will be switched on at around 5pm by TV sports journalist Fran Donovan, the two winners of the 'best dressed window' competition in the town centre, Cathy Evans and Judy Mancuso, and some helpers from Frozen.

As you can see from the images of previous years, the event draws a huge crowd of people of all ages.

A FESTIVE LOOK AT HOLTON ROAD

LET GREAT INDEPENDENT BUSINESSES HELP YOU...

THE Christmas season is under way and there's never been a better time to buy locally.

Holton Road and its surrounding streets have a huge range of independent shops, providing top quality products and service, so there's no need to drive miles into Cardiff or off to some distant retail park.

Independent businesses are good for a community's economy with money staying locally and likely to benefit others.

Holton Road is full of well-established businesses that have earned their stripes over not just a few years, but decades.

One business which fulfills that template at the top of Holton Road is JPL Sound – The Barry Music Shop.

Over the years, John Lewis and his staff have developed a reputation for good, straightforward advice on musical instruments and equipment. They have 40 years of experience in the music industry and are musicians themselves.

A musical instrument is often a popular Christmas present and it is best to go to The Barry Music Shop, rather than buy on the internet.

People who purchase

N & M Frangoulis has been serving the people of Barry since 1950.

on the internet can find an instrument incorrectly set up. John and his staff can make sure it is set up for use on Christmas Day to avoid disappointment.

The shop provides a guitar repair service and quality instruments are 'bought and sold'.

If you are purchasing a number of items you can even compile a 'wish list' and the staff will work out a special price. That's something you won't get over the internet.

The shop always has festive offers and provides 'best service' because it wants repeat business.

JPL Sound – The Barry Music Shop is well known not just in Barry, but throughout south Wales, for the numerous events it helps with its sound systems, including the annual Fireworks Fiesta.

N & M Frangoulis on Thompson Street is the oldest family-owned shoe repair business in Barry.

It opened in 1950 and the original owner George Frangoulis developed a reputation for taking on the most challenging shoe repairs, and making the very best 'made-to-measure' hand-made shoes.

When his son Nick took over, he expanded its services.

Key cutting was introduced in the early 70s, which has developed and grown over the years, and it is one of the largest key stockists, including the cutting and programming of chipped car keys.

N & M Frangoulis also stocks the very best in British-made quality shoes, with brands such as Barkers, Cheaney, Padders, and Trickers.

There's a variety of high quality leather goods – including wallets, purses, passport and travel card holders.

Computerised engraving has been introduced to personalise gifts as well as stocking a range of trophies and Cups – together with a large range of genuine Zippo lighters which can be engraved.

Other products include watch batteries, watch

HQ2 The Salon Hair & Beauty at 36 Holton Road is celebrating 12 years of success. It is a four-star rated salon, with a friendly, welcoming atmosphere.

Dawn Vaughan, the owner, explained: "We are already filling up fast with bookings for Christmas hair appointments so for people wishing to book that all important appointment call on 01446 400102, or pop in at any time to chat with the team."

"HQ2 is very well known for 'hair up' for those all important occasions!"

"The salon also has a resident beautician that has many Christmas packages."

A very popular treatment is the luxury facial for £35.

The team are always updating their cutting and colouring!

The salon uses the very top products on the market too, like Balmian for great hair extensions, and Opti Smooth for hair straightening.

There are many Christmas packs in the salon too, starting from £10.

TWENTIETH ANNIVERSARY!

TL Computer Systems (Wales) Ltd at 40 Holton Road is about to celebrate a notable landmark in providing computer support to the people of the Vale.

Julie Thorne explained: "In January, we will be reaching our 20th anniversary. We used to be across the road, but came here in the year 2000."

"We're going to be at the Christmas market at King Square on Saturday, November 28, with a stall. We'll have lots of quirky gift ideas for stockings, like Star Wars USBs."

The market will run from 10am until 6am and incorporates the Christmas 'switch-on'.

SWEGWAY

Ruckleys, the ever-popular store with young Mums and Dads at 45 Holton Road, is welcoming a very special visitor in December – Father Christmas.

The owner, Faye Ruckley, told The GEM: "Father Christmas will be at the store on Saturday, December 12 from 10am to 5pm, and on Sunday, December 13, from 11am to 5pm."

Tickets in advance are £3.99 a child and for three children £10. On the day it's £4.75 a child and £12 for a family ticket.

Faye added: "Mums and Dads are welcome to bring their cameras along to capture their little one's delight on the day."

Ruckleys is Barry's one stop children's store, stocking everything from early days to school days. There are prams including the popular Egg brand; pushchairs; clothing for babies to six years old; Start-rite shoes (staff are fully trained in shoe-fitting); school uniforms; christening, bridesmaid and pageboy outfits; in fact, something for every child.

Faye also runs a nursery savings club.

"We will order and store a customer's products until they need them. The customer simply pays a small deposit which means they can shop immediately for all their baby items without having to pay straight away."

And what are the big Ruckleys' Christmas presents this year? The fantastic Swegway self-balancing board at £299 is tipped to be the number one present this Christmas.

Another is the handbuilt Reborn Baby at £129.99 – visit the store and you won't believe how life-like they are!

Relax – AND LET NIBBLERS BALANCE YOUR MIND, BODY AND SOUL...

THE Nibblers
Fish Pedicure
Spa and Beauty Salon at 68
Holton Road is a family business celebrating its fifth year this coming March.

The salon's ethos is not purely about beauty treatments, but providing a relaxing space away from every day stresses and strains, with a holistic approach to clients' needs and well-being.

Carys Cheetham, the manager, explained: "We provide beauty and holistic therapies."

"Clients are welcomed to their own personal retreat where they can enjoy both Nibblers Signature Treatments and luxurious Elemis Face and Body Therapies to help balance the mind, body and soul."

"The staff will always strive to offer a relaxed, friendly, professional experience from the moment a client walks through the door."

The Nibblers is the Vale's specialist boutique fish pedicure spa and also contains Elemis beauty rooms.

Shellac nails, detox and waxing are all popular treatments, but there's an array to choose from: specialist massages, facials, fish therapy, lashes and brows, manicures and pedicures, spray tanning, and waxing and threading.

Carys said: "We provide a unique and exciting experience to all of our clients who are looking for clinically-proven advance anti-ageing skin facials, body exotics and body detox."

"We have something in store to suit all of our clients' needs, from FLABÉLOS to help improve your overall health, reduce fat, remove cellulite, improve circulation and minimise lower back pain, and a therapy tailored to help relax, de-stress, relieve that tension or just something special to make your nails dazzle!"

Elemis products are available in store and would also make a great Christmas present. You can also book 'pamper parties' with the luxury of Elemis Spa too – just call 01446 736318; or for more information, go to www.thenibblers.co.uk

Introducing

WHITE BRIGHTENING FACIAL

Illuminates and brightens for a naturally more even complexion

This highly effective white brightening facial visibly illuminates the complexion to leave it naturally more even and translucently clear. Precision, feather-light movements delicately layer proven brightening actives on the skin to encourage the washing-out of melanin and the visible dullness that develops over time.

This targeted treatment responds to individual skin needs helping to reduce age spots, discoloration, and dull skin tone and texture on the face, neck, décolleté, arms and hands.

Leaves the complexion illuminated, more even and beautifully white bright.

INDEPENDENT CLINICAL TRIALS
Clinically proven to significantly even skin tone, reduce pigmentation and increase brightness and luminosity after just 1 treatment!

A FESTIVE LOOK AT HOLTON ROAD

The Vinyl Frontier holds month-long Disney bonanza..

LEFT: The Vinyl Frontier – enjoy a coffee and a snack and you can browse thousands of vintage records, DVDs, box sets, CDs, cassettes and video games.

ONE of Holton Road's newest additions is lining up a month-long Disney-themed bonanza to celebrate its first Christmas on the 'high street'.

The Vinyl Frontier, at 39 Holton Road, is already building up quite a following with its distinctive yellow and black livery luring customers inside, where they are greeted with a smile and two floors of music and entertainment delights. There is also top quality jewellery and cosmetics thrown in for good measure!

The Vale's only outlet for thousands of vintage and rare records also boasts a superb array of DVDs and box sets, CDs, cassettes and video games, and a coffee bar with hot and cold snacks and home made cakes at unbeatable prices.

But to make Christmas a little bit special, owners Alison and Alan have decided to add their own collection of exclusive Walt Disney world merchandise to the mix, offering an amazing selection of bean bags, pins and memorabilia unavailable anywhere else in the UK.

Alison said: "It will be a bit like 'not on the high street' - but on the high street".

"We particularly love the Star Wars weekend pins and merchandise. They were all released in very limited quantities and won't be available anywhere else, so shoppers really will have the chance to purchase a very unique gift," she added.

The Vinyl Frontier's Christmas event launches on Monday, November 23, and runs right up until 4pm on Christmas Eve. They have some great Christmas cards available, too!

And if you can't quite make it before Christmas, why not pop in on Boxing Day for some very special one-day only offers!

KING SQUARE READY TO LIGHT UP!

Youngsters just love the Jungle Jacks Play Centre!

ABOVE: Jungle Jacks is a great 'play and party' centre for your children to celebrate a party, or let off some steam! It can even be hired on a 'private booking' basis.

JUNGLE JACKS play centre is an exciting and well established soft play area in the town centre of Barry.

A spokeswoman explained what makes it such a popular place with local families. "We have an amazing staff who create a safe, clean, warm, friendly and welcoming atmosphere."

"Parents can relax and have a chat while the children play. Our staff love to have a chat so if you're a regular visitor we will soon get to know you."

"Our facilities are appropriate for children with an age range from 0 to 11 years. Our indoor play centre features a diverse range of fun equipment for exploration by all ages, which includes an adventure play frame, ball pools, designated toddler and baby area, Astra slide, spiral slide, Ariel glide, ride ons, bouncing balls, spinning discs, a private party room and lots more."

"We cater for birthday parties and private events, too. Jungle Jacks offers a wide range of themed and styled parties to give your kids the celebration they deserve! Let us take care of everything for you, so you can sit back and watch the day's festivities unfold!

"You can find details of all our parties on our website at junglejacksplay.co.uk where you can also book online."

"We also take private bookings for Sundays and evenings. Have you ever thought of hiring a play centre for your special event? You can have the whole place to yourselves for as long or as short as you like."

Jungle Jacks has a cafe offering a wide range of hot or cold refreshments which are freshly prepared and made to order.

The spokeswoman emphasised: "Our meal deal offer is great value for money. This includes entry and any children's meal from the menu and a drink. Meal deals are available all day, every day."

"Join our Loyalty Scheme and every tenth visit is free. Double stamps on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays."

"Coffee lovers can get a free hot drink with our coffee loyalty card after every eight drinks. With great tasting coffees and chocolate drinks we are sure you will find a favourite."

ABOVE: Here are images of King Square at last year's Christmas event. This year it takes place on Saturday, November 28. There will be a market and entertainment, Father Christmas and the 'switch-on' at around 5pm.

SCHOOL'S FUNDRAISING WEEK FOR CHILDREN IN NEED A BIG SUCCESS

PORHCRAWL Comprehensive School spent a week building up to Children in Need day and it was well worth the effort.

A school spokeswoman said: "Following an exhaustive five days of enthusiasm and energy on the part of our students, we are delighted that once again, pupils have surpassed themselves during our annual charities week, with the head team raising in excess of £4,000.

"The fundraising gathered momentum as the week went on and in addition to the old favourites like I'm a Teacher... Get me out of here! Sponge the Teacher and Womanless Miss World, pupils introduced the Great British Bake Off and the extraordinary Lip Synch Battle – all performed to packed-out audiences of delighted pupils!

"The pinnacle of the week was the fancy dress day for Children in Need on Friday, November 13 when sixth formers and staff dressed up and the rest of the school wore home clothes – all donating money for the privilege. As ever, outfits were spectacular; the head team setting the standard extremely high with their colourful costumes from countries from all around the world."

Headteacher Andrew Slade said: "£4,000 is a terrific amount of money to raise, and I would like to take this opportunity to thank our pupils and staff for contributing so wholeheartedly to this campaign and congratulate our extraordinary young people on raising this impressive amount of money for charity.

"Chosen charities this year include the Kenya Project, the Teenage Cancer Trust, the Alzheimer's Society and the Cystic Fibrosis Trust. Links with the local community will be further enhanced with contributions later in the year to Y Bont, Follow Your Dreams and the RNLI. Very Well Done!"

Unique health board team wins a top radiography award

CARDIFF and Vale University Health Board's nuclear medicine and molecular imaging team has won the Society of Radiographers Wales region team of the year 2015.

The annual awards recognise the hard work and dedication of radiography teams across the country.

Chris O'Callaghan, Superintendent nuclear medicine radiographer at Cardiff and Vale UHB said: "We have a robust team of AHPs allied health professionals who deliver an outstanding service.

"This unique mix of staff has given us a unique skill set, not previously available within traditional radiology departments. This has made a massive impact to the delivery of service for the patients."

The multidisciplinary team includes radiographers at University Hospital of Wales and University Hospital Llandough, and also staff from Medical Physics, PETIC and Velindre.

A BARRY-based artist this week saw his life's work put on display – as part of an exhibition – A Retrospective by Alan Salisbury – at Art Central in Barry following a launch event on November 7.

The artist has been based in Barry for over 40 years and 100 people attended the opening of the exhibition which honours five decades of work in the visual arts.

After completing a foundation course at Manchester School of Art, he studied at Liverpool School of Art and the Royal College of Art in London, before taking up teaching posts at the Glamorgan College of Education and then the Polytechnic of Wales.

Coun Fred Johnson, Mayor of the Vale, opened the exhibition and artist Frances Woodley spoke warmly of the artist's modesty and great talent.

The exhibition is open until January 2 before touring to other venues in Wales. For more information, contact 01446 709496 or visit www.valeofglamorgan.gov.uk/arts

MERRY CHRISTMAS TO ALL OUR CUSTOMERS

WITH Christmas getting closer every day, traders and businesses in Llantwit Major are making their final preparations for the festive season.

For residents of the town, it is a chance to support local businesses and keep the high street alive, while for out-of-towners it is a chance to shop in a relaxed atmosphere, while reacquainting oneself with the area's many attractive features.

On that subject, it is worth putting the date of Saturday, November 28, in your diary, as that is when the Llantwit Major Events Committee puts on a day of family-friendly activities in the town, including a lantern parade, fairground rides and a visit from Santa!

With its combination of a modern town area, adjoining the olde-worlde narrow streets that all seem to lead to St Illtud's Church, you can be in a peaceful spot in no time at all.

Looking more closely at Christmas, one thing that is at the top of many people's lists is toys, and Llantwit is lucky to have its own fully-fledged toy shop, the Plaza Toymaster.

The shop recently won an award for its range of pre-school toys, but it carries a full range for all ages. Matthew Hunt of Filco, who own the store, told The GEM: "This year, Star Wars toys are expected to be really big, and that has been reflected in our Christmas stock."

"Also, it's not too late to join our Christmas Club, and one service we do offer is to put your presents away until close to Christmas, so you don't have to worry about hiding them in the home."

"This year, on Sunday, December 13, we will be having a visit from Santa and his Reindeer, from 11am to 3pm, to help build up the Christmas excitement."

At Health Conscious, owner Nicky Foster has a number of Christmas lines that can solve your present problems.

She said: "At this time of year, we can make up personalised baskets of healthy products that can make a perfect gift."

"We also have a range of coffee cups made out of organic bamboo. They are beautiful to look at, and ethically-traded, too."

"Another ideal gift would be one of our 'teardrop' oil burners, which are ideal for aromatherapy oils."

At Sloan & Co, owner Stuart Sloan says that men tearing their hair out over what gift to buy the woman in their life can be reassured, because his staff know exactly what is on trend at the moment.

He told The GEM: "The trends are really strong at the moment, particularly for the younger sector."

"Big checks and tartans are in, and also tops with tassels. Another popular material for a top is faux fur, especially the 'furry eyelash' texture."

"Last year was very good for us, with items such as bags, purses and scarves being given as gifts. We stock LYDC products (London Young Designer Collective) and we expect them to do well again."

"Finally, silver 'statement' jewellery is in at the moment, and we can offer a wide range."

If it's time to take a break, then the Net Cafe is a great place to drop in. It's under new management after Sian Jones took over 11 weeks ago.

She said: "With Christmas in mind, we are going to be doing a brie and cranberry toastie, on top of our usual range."

Llantwit Major at Christmas

Sian added: "We have had a great reaction to our hot chocolate. A number of customers have said it's the best in town!"

"If people are thinking of an afternoon tea and cake, then they should try our gluten-free citrus cake, which is very popular, or perhaps our millionaire's shortbread."

It's good to find that Llantwit Major can still boast a proper book store, and John Woods and his team at Nickleby's love the challenge of unearthing an out-of-print book for customers.

He said: "We have our regular Christmas lines, and local history is very popular. On the best seller front, no one book has dominated the market."

However, the shop specialises in book mainstream books. John and his team, Kath, Cheryl, Bobsie and Ffion have 80 years' experience in the book industry between them, and pride themselves on their motto 'Anything from anywhere in the world'.

If you have been told that a title is out of print, Nickleby's could still offer you hope. John added that this philosophy also applied to CDs and DVDs, and his team's expertise applied equally to that field!

Don't forget that the town is surrounded by some of the Vale's most attractive features. St Donat's Castle, for instance, is an attractive place to visit at any time, but on Sunday, December 6, the Arts Centre there will be holding its annual 'Crafts for Christmas'.

This event includes inside and outside craft and food stalls in both St Donat's Castle and the Arts Centre, along with musical entertainment throughout the day and a craft workshop for children. A spokeswoman for the Arts Centre said: "This year we have a record number of exhibitors, 55 in total and a bird of prey display on the castle lawns."

The excellent theatre/music venue at the centre is putting on a range of events, and one high-profile evening will be on Friday, November 27, when food writer and TV personality Jay Rayner will be on stage for his one-man show.

Lots of people want to shop ethically, and one long-established business in Llantwit Major where you can be sure you purchases go to a good cause is the New Hope charity shop.

This has been run by Gordon Taylor for many years now, and it operates in Nicaragua, supporting projects that help improve the quality of life for very poor people.

Gordon told The GEM: "The problems of central American countries tend to get forgotten these days, but there is still a huge need for relief work."

"We are lucky that the community in Llantwit has been so supportive. We have a regular flow of goods to put on sale in the shop, which makes us well worth a visit."

Of course, not every business in a busy town will experience a Christmas rush, but it is nevertheless a chance for traders to reflect on doing business in Llantwit.

Kim Sellick is the practice manager at Therapy Works, where Hywel Griffiths has overseen operations for 19 years.

Apart from his work in Llantwit, Hywel is well known in the sporting world globally, working with a number of international level athletes.

Two other physios are on hand at the centre, Adam Brown and Caroline Sels.

Kim said that the festive holiday period offered a good chance for people to review their overall physical condition, and start the New Year with a resolve to sort out any problems and twinges.

She said: "There is no need to live with back pain or any muscle or joint problem. A consultation can make a significant difference."

Another local business owner expecting to be busy over Christmas,

He said: "I would like to wish all our customers the very best over the Christmas period."

Llantwit toy store wins top award!

award at the Dorchester Hotel ceremony.

PLAZA Toymaster in Llantwit Major has received the seal of approval from the preschool industry, by winning the 'best independent toy store' category in this year's prestigious awards.

The winners of the 2015 Progressive Preschool Awards were announced at a high-profile event in The Dorchester Hotel, in Mayfair, London.

Hosted by the comedian Sean Collins, the awards were attended by over 400 suppliers and retailers who came together to celebrate the entire preschool industry.

The Progressive Preschool Awards 2015 celebrate the very best in product and retailing right across the preschool world.

Now in its second year, the awards aim to reflect the passion, dynamism and creativity found throughout the industry.

All retail entries were nominated by suppliers, distributors, wholesalers and agents before being validated by a panel of industry experts. The winners are recognised for their innovative approach and retail achievements over the last year.

Matthew Hunt of Filco, who own the Plaza Toymaster, said: "We are thoroughly delighted to have won this award and look forward to sharing our success with our staff team and customers."

"We will be welcoming Santa and his reindeer to our store in the build-up to Christmas, continuing our commitment to the community."

Llantwit Major at Christmas

ABOVE: St Donat's Castle, just along the coast from Llantwit Major, has a thriving arts centre, and is also busy as a music and theatre venue. On December 6, the castle grounds will be open for a special 'Crafts for Christmas' fair, with a host of extra attractions. (See advert on page 31).

The castle has, in recent years, become a popular location for film and TV historical dramas. Most recently, the BBC drama Wolf Hall, starring Mark Rylance, filmed at St Donat's Castle.

Another business that has done well from basing itself in Llantwit Major is Sunkissed Beauty and Tanning, which celebrated its 10th birthday in the town earlier this year.

Vicki Wiggins runs Sunkissed and told The GEM: "The people of Llantwit have been wonderful to us. They have supported us from the very start."

As her way of thanking her customers for that support, Vicki is holding a Christmas party evening on Thursday, December 3 (6.30pm - 9.30pm).

Customers who go along for the night will be able to try out complimentary treatments, while relaxing with Champagne and nibbles.

With Christmas in mind, Vicki is offering lots of special offers.

One of these offers, in particular, could take away some of the stress of Christmas shopping.

Buy an £80 voucher form Sunkissed and you will receive, free of charge, a back, neck and shoulder massage which normally costs £26!

So, Sunkissed's massage brings us back to the subject of cutting the stress from the festive shopping rush – and from this point of view Llantwit Major ticks all the boxes.

The town has free parking, and it's compact, so you don't have to walk long distances.

There is a regular train link along the Vale of Glamorgan Railway Line from Barry or Bridgend.

You also have the 'good conscience' bonus of supporting local businesses and helping to keep a town centre thriving.

Add to that the coffee shops, pubs and restaurants and it means you can get home at the end of the day after your shopping in a better mood than when you get caught up in the big city frenzy.

There are plenty of reasons to visit Llantwit – the charms of the old town and its proximity to the Heritage Coast are just two.

However, one thing I always suggest to friends is a visit to the Galilee Chapel at St Illtud's Church.

The church has always been a little haven – in the peace and quiet sense as well as the religious.

It isn't prominent on the skyline as many churches are. It nestles in a dell, shielded from the wind, and has almost its own micro climate.

However, the recent restoration of the Galilee Chapel provides a wonderful place to stop and think.

The chapel is now home to Celtic Crosses that were in St Illtud's Church all along, but now they are on display in a beautiful setting.

Take a moment to reconnect with the past. You will find it well worth the diversion.

Regional AM queries parking fines at rail station in Maesteg

A regional AM, Suzy Davies, says she has made "urgent contact" with Network Rail over the future of the car park at Maesteg railway station.

She had been alerted by constituents that Asda has introduced £70 fines for people staying longer than two hours in its supermarket car park, which adjoins the railway station.

Those using what was previously the park and ride car park, which leads off the store car park, are also facing the fines unless they first register their car with the store when they travel.

Welsh Conservative Mrs Davies, said: "Asda can control their own car park, of course. However, it is not clear to my constituents about whether there have been any changes to the status of the additional car park that was provided on land owned by British Rail in order to serve the railway station.

Asda has erected signs stating that the whole of the car park, including the section by the station, is their land.

"I have contacted Asda and Network Rail to find out whether there have been any recent changes of ownership or other agreements as to use.

"Unless there is a dedicated station car park, people attempting to use the trains will be penalised. I understand that rail passengers wishing to park their cars at the station will first of all have to go into the store to register their car number and then, when they return, take their rail ticket into the store so that the penalty notice can be cancelled.

"That's okay, assuming people have time to do this but someone rushing to get the train could end up being fined £70 simply because they did not have time to go into the store and register.

"This system is no substitute for having a dedicated rail car park at this site and I am pressing Network Rail to investigate if Asda owns this land and if so, how this happened.

"This station was built in 1992, when it was decided to re-open the line to passenger rail services, which had ceased in 1970.

A new station was needed and this was jointly provided by the former Mid Glamorgan County Council and the railway.

"It is my understanding that the station and the additional car park were built on part of the old goods yard, which was owned by the railway. Access to both is through Asda's car park.

"There have been no problems with this arrangement until a few weeks ago. I have asked Network Rail how they intend to deal with this situation. Public money from Mid Glamorgan County Council was used to build the station and car park and we need to know what's happened to this land.

"I have also approached Bridgend County Borough Council (BCBC) as they are the successor council to Mid Glamorgan. They are also investigating."

Assembly Conservative candidate Jamie Wallis said that he was concerned about the impact on commuters and others in Maesteg.

He said: "These days, having a park and ride facility is crucial. The only place motorists can park their cars in order to commute is at the town centre station.

"Network Rail needs to sit down with Asda and come to a sensible arrangement which would provide some dedicated parking for commuters while still allowing the store to ensure that its free car park is not being abused."

A spokesman for Smart Parking, who operate the car park, said that the land was owned by Asda, and that the terms and conditions were on signage in the car park.

He indicated that a response would be sent but, unfortunately, it had not arrived by the time The GEM went to press.

WENVOE GIFT MARKS WI CENTENARY YEAR

Members of Wenvoe WI, with Rev Jon Ormrod.

DURING this century year of the Woman's Institute, the ladies of the Wenvoe branch wanted to mark the occasion with a special donation to the village.

Although a relatively small group with only 17 members, they set their sights high and decided to donate a bench to be placed in the grounds of their local church, St Mary's.

To achieve their goal, they held various fundraising events and were successful in their venture. The bench was duly purchased and received by Rev Jon Ormrod of St Mary's, who blessed the bench in a small ceremony held at the site of the bench, with most of the members of the Wenvoe WI present.

The bench is well sited opposite the main entrance to the church and has already proved popular among the congregation. Following the short ceremony, the ladies adjourned to a local garden centre for tea and cakes in the small café.

The group would like to thank the village environmental team who prepared the platform for the bench and secured it in its location.

GEM READERS' LETTERS EXTRA

'Lights still on in Llantwit!'

IT has been widely recognised that councils across Wales, have to make cuts due to restrictions placed on them by the Tory Government in London.

The Vale Council has made much play of the need for savings and has imposed, or is imposing, various cuts and charges on services in the Vale, including Barry.

The council is looking to start charging motorists to park their vehicles in several car parks in Barry and has also now decided that we have to have our street lighting turned off between the hours of midnight and 6am...

However, for some strange reason the lights in Llantwit Major have not been turned off.

So do we assume they have no car parks or street lighting in Llantwit Major?

We need an explanation. D J Radford, Barry.

Where is the logic?

WHERE is the logic? The Vale Council are going to charge us £2 per roll for the dissolvable green liner food recycling bags that we are all supposed to use, in keeping with the council's policy on recycling.

What will be the result? People will not pay, or be bothered to continue the scheme, and will put their food scraps into black bags - for seagulls and other animals - foxes in Penmark - to spread the waste around the streets.

Would someone in the environmental department advise when this idiotic measure was brought in, and how we are now to dispose of the food waste?

Incidentally, the green bags are now available either from the civic centre or the library in Barry. David Mitchell, Penmark.

Cycle path road show!

INOTE that the seemingly unstoppable Vale Council cycle-path road show has rolled on to a new location - the causeway road to Barry Island.

One wonders how cyclists have managed to traverse this stretch of road for the past 120 years! Meanwhile, cyclists and drivers of motorised vehicles alike face ever-increasing risks caused by the continued deterioration of the area's road infrastructure.

Phil Dawson, Barry.

Medical centre to 'open in spring' at Dinas Powys

DINAS POWYS

Community Council has been told that the new medical centre in Dinas Powys is due to open in the spring by Dr Sue Thomas, senior partner at the group practice.

This was reported during a presentation to the council requested by the chairman, Coun Keith Hatton. The medical centre is likely to be one of the last supported financially directly by the Welsh Government. Further delays would have placed at risk such funding.

She reported that the group practice had looked at over 50 sites in Dinas Powys and only the Murch Road site was available and suitable. Although transport was a concern, councillors heard that 95 per cent of patients currently Questions were asked from the floor about services, including podiatry. It was confirmed that the health board was withdrawing this service from Dinas Powys. Councillors were concerned about this and, indeed, the lack of support from the health board for additional services.

However, they understood that podiatry and extra services were not part of the GP role and the responsible body was the health board.

Coun Chris Franks suggested that the community council should take their concerns to the health board: "It is wrong that the health board does not seem to be taking the opportunity to provide more services within Dinas Powys. It is a cheaper option than treatment at the Heath, with the huge on-costs involved.

Coun John Fashaw said it was good that there was space at the centre for the potential expansion of service in the future if the health board was willing to transport by car to the Books launched in Porthcawl

HAPPENSTANCE Press's editor-in-chief, Helena Nelson, will attend the launch of her two latest publications at the office of a Porthcawl charity.

Unleaving by Kristian Evans of Kenfig, and Pattern Beyond Chance by Stephen Payne, are featured from 8pm, in the Green Room, Sustainable Wales, 5, James St, Porthcawl CF36 3BG.

For the charity, Robert Minihinnick said: "All Welsh literature lovers should welcome the first publication by Kenfig's Kristian Evans. "Here is a new toughly lyrical voice in Wales, aware of the past, but sounding a warning about our uncertain future.

"Kristian Evans uses his knowledge of Welsh and French literatures to create vivid poetry."

Helena Nelson will speak about both publications, and the two writers will give readings.

These will be followed by questions and an open mic. For more information telephone 01656 773627/783962.

HOLY TRINITY WINDOW IS RESTORED TO FORMER GLORY

TIME had taken its toll on one of the medieval windows in the chancel of Holy Trinity Church, Llandow, and restoration was required.

But - thanks to a grant from the Headley Trust (one of the Sainsbury family charities) and the efforts of the architect Gavin Birt who freely gave his services, plus the work of the expert stained glass artist Christian Ryan of Ewenny and the craftsmanship of Mark Jones and his colleagues from Corinthian Masonry, this window has been restored and it looks wonderful!

We in this small village are very proud of our parish church, which is one of the oldest and smallest in the Vale, and we have to work hard to keep on top of all the work required to keep the ancient building and its contents in a good state of repair and open for public worship.

Not only have we had to repair the stone mullion and stained glass of one of the windows, but we have also had to work out how to replace the organ so necessary to accompany our singing.

Various fundraising events were organised and we now have a restored window and a new (to us) organ which was played to accompany our annual 'Hymns and Pimms' evening earlier this year.

WELSH CLERK WHO 'OWNED' BIG BEN!

IT was truly a unique occasion as Lord Lisvane addressed members of the south Wales branch of the English Speaking Union and revealed, as former Clerk to the House of Commons, he had been chief executive of the House's services, comprising some 2,000 staff and with legal ownership of all buildings and property, including Big Ben!

Lord Lisvane took his title from the area of Cardiff where he was born and delivered an informative, engaging and enthralling talk, which included parliamentary history, procedures and precedents, and delightful anecdotes.

Lord Lisvane also expressed his delight at meeting students from Howell's school, who were studying government and politics and who, no doubt, were impressed to learn that the first Clerk was Robert de Melton, appointed 'Under-clerk of the Parliaments to wait upon the Commons' in 1363 with a salary of £5 a year... for life.

The next branch event, the traditional Christmas carols and supper at Howell's school is fully booked. On February 25 Jonathan Fenby CBE will speak on 'Inside China: the Rising Superpower' at the Cardiff City Stadium. Details from Derek Morgan on 01656 669129; email esuswb@googlemail.com.

Job seekers on construction course

WANNABE construction workers of both sexes were recently given a boost on a free course organised by Newydd Housing Association and Barry Communities First with sponsorship from Jehu Project Services.

Participants were referred from the Job Centre and 12 have passed the accredited construction skills certification scheme course providing them with a CSCS card, essential for employment in the industry. More are taking the final exam in the coming weeks. Michelle Connell, the only woman to participate in the course, said: "I heard about the course through a friend. I'm unemployed but have six children and I just want to be able to do something for them and look after my kids."

Michelle has now passed the course and is working with Newydd staff on writing her CV and applying for a job, along with the other participants who have passed.

TO coincide with the Rugby World Cup, pupils at Ysgol Sant Baruc recently held an International Week, which proved very successful.

During the week, each class studied a country that was involved in the tournament and dressed in various costumes or rugby kit, to represent a particular country.

The pupils learned many facts about their chosen countries: they studied music and art and even tasted different foods. The highlight of the week was listening to Cai Beasley, a pupil in year-6 as he spoke live on Radio Cymru.

Cai has been a regular feature on the radio station since the beginning of the World Cup, as he has represented Australia throughout the tournament.

The pupils in the nursery and reception looked fantastic, dressed in Welsh costume and as dragons, while having the opportunity to learn about their own country - Wales. The children enjoyed tasting cawl and Welsh cakes and performed many traditional Welsh songs on stage to the whole school - bendigedig!

Year-1 pupils studied Ireland: they learnt how to say hello in Gaelic; they studied maps to locate Ireland, listened to traditional stories, tasted soda bread and performed River Dance to the rest of the school.

Year-2 studied South Africa, where they have also tasted foods from this particular country, they have created masks and a huge flag to display in the school hall.

They also discovered how to say hello in different languages and learnt many interesting facts which they later presented to the rest of the school.

Year-3 studied France, while year-4 studied New Zealand. Again, the pupils studied art from these two countries and learnt to speak simple phrases.

Year-4 later performed the Haka to the school - they were excellent!

Years-5 and 6 studied Japan and Australia:

Year-4 - Japan.

Year-2 South Africa.

here, the pupils researched both countries to find many different interesting facts.

Year-6 had a barbecue, creating their own burgers, and made boomerangs out of clay.

Year-5 studied the weather in Tokyo and compared the temperatures each month with Cardiff.

The week was enjoyed by every pupil, with the highlight of the week being that every pupil and member of staff dressed to represent their country.

There were many rugby players present, along with leprechauns, Maori warriors, Australian surfers and a kangaroo!

Year-6 also lead sessions to develop rugby skills for all pupils and each class enjoyed sharing their knowledge and experiences from the week.

Clwb Garddio Sant Baruc

The gardening club at Ysgol Sant Baruc has been very busy tidying the garden and planting plants and bulbs. We look forward to seeing the results of all their hard work in the spring.

Bu'r clwb garddio yn Ysgol Sant Baruc yn brysur iawn yn taeluso'r ardd ac yn plannu planhigion a bylbiau yn barod i'r gwanwyn.

Diolchgarwch! Harvest

For their annual Harvest collection, Ysgol Gymraeg Sant Baruc chose to support the Vale Foodbank.

Pupils and parents generously donated foods to help the charity and the support this year was incredible.

Year-3 held the Harvest assembly this year and the class proudly presented the local Foodbank with the donations.

Dewisodd Ysgol Gymraeg Sant Baruc gefnogi Banc Bwyd y Fro ar gyfer eu casgliad diolchgarwch eleni.

World War One memorial unveiled at school

ROLL OF HONOUR CEREMONY AT ST CYRES

REBECCA WELLS

ON Wednesday, November 11, a moving ceremony took place at St Cyres School in Penarth, when a new First World War memorial was unveiled and dedicated, to replace the one belonging to the National School in Penarth, which was lost when that school was closed.

The project to replace the lost memorial was the vision of the headteacher, Dr Jonathan Hicks, who had long-held the ambition to ensure that his current pupils were able to learn of the fate of some of their forefathers.

"The original memorial was unveiled in July 1920 by the headteacher of the National School and I was honoured to be able to follow in that headteacher's footsteps. "Moving into our brand-new school building, it seemed the right time to create a new memorial to those men who gave their lives a century ago," said Dr Hicks.

"It will also serve to remind our current and future pupils of the sacrifices made by earlier generations. Through extensive research my wife Wendy and I were also able to correct two errors on the original memorial."

The ceremony began with a guard of honour by two living historians, Robin Mellor and Chris Coode, dressed in authentic First World War uniforms. Dr Hicks then paid tribute to the fallen before 20 pupils of St Cyres School, whose surnames are similar to those listed on the memorial, read out each of the names.

Music teacher Richard Hopkin played 'The Last Post' and a silence was held. Prayers were led by Jason Erickson.

Following the ceremony, the pupils and staff were treated to a talk on the lives of men and women during The Great War by the two living historians.

Amongst the names on the memorial are:

Herbert Albert Barrett, who served with the 45th Battalion of the Machine Gun Corps as a machine gunner. He was killed on August 23, 1917 and is buried in Tyne Cot Cemetery. He saw action at the Battles for Pilkem Ridge and Langemark during The Third Battle of Ypres - Passchendaele.

Thomas Norvell Bartlett served with the 113th Siege Battery, Royal Garrison Artillery as Battery Sergeant Major. He was killed in action on August 30, 1916, aged 36, and is buried in Peronne Road Cemetery in France. He had lived at 16 Plassey Street, Penarth and before enlisting was employed as a coal tipper at Penarth Docks.

Edward William Davis of 9 Plassey Street in Penarth served with the 8th Battalion of the South Staffordshire Regiment. He was killed in action on February 15, 1916, aged just 20. He was in camp near Ypres when it received a direct hit from a German eight-inch artillery shell.

Twelve men, including Edward, were killed, plus two medical officers who were tending men in a dressing station. His body was never found and he is commemorated as one of the missing on the famous Menin Gate in Ypres.

Donald Alexander Heslop had been a chartered accountant before the Great War. He joined the 10th Royal Fusiliers but was killed on May 4, 1916. He is buried in Berles-au-Bois Churchyard in France.

Rees John was the son of William and Ann John of Penarth. He was 34 years old when he died of wounds on September 28, 1918 while serving with the Welsh Guards.

He fought at Loos in 1915, the Somme in 1916 and at Passchendaele in 1917. In September 1918 they were charged with breaking through the formidable German defences of the Hindenburg Line. It was during this fighting that Rees was wounded and evacuated to a casualty clearing station where unfortunately he died. He is buried in Grevillers British Cemetery in France.

William Melbourne Lee was a second lieutenant serving with the Royal Field Artillery. He was killed in action on March 21, 1918 while serving with 298th Brigade. William had enlisted as a private soldier early in the war and rose from the ranks to become an officer on August 4, 1917. His body was never found and he is commemorated on the Pozieres Memorial to the Missing.

George Victor Morgan lived at 8 Grove Place in Penarth. He enlisted with the Welsh Regiment before being transferred to the 1/4th Battalion of the South Lancashire Regiment. George was killed in action on August 23, 1916 during the Battle of the Somme, aged 19. His grave was lost and he is remembered on the Thiepval Memorial to the Missing.

Harry Douglas White served as an ordinary seaman on the SS Boscastle. He and 16 other members of the crew were killed as the result of an attack by an enemy submarine on April 7, 1918.

He was just 17 and is commemorated on the Tower Hill Memorial in London.

Frederick Lewis Whittington served with the 8th Battalion East Surrey Regiment. He was killed in action on October 12, 1917, aged 26. He and his wife had lived at 6, Machen Street in Penarth.

His grave could not be found after the war ended and he is remembered on the Tyne Cot Memorial in Belgium.

and was killed in action on July 23, 1918, aged 31. He is remembered on the Soissons Memorial.

Frederick George Smith served as a private with the 12th Battalion Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders. He was killed in action in Salonika on September 19, 1918, aged 28, and is buried in Doiran Military Cemetery.

Arthur John Thomas was a private serving with the 8th Battalion of the Lincolnshire Regiment.

The son of John and Rose Thomas of 80 Plassey Street, he died of wounds on April 26, 1917, aged 22, during the Battle of Arras and is buried in Aubigny Communal Cemetery in France.

Edward Charles Whitley was a lance corporal with the 18th Battalion of the Welsh Regiment. He was killed in action on November 24, 1917 during the fighting for Bourlon Wood as part of the Battle of Cambrai. He is buried in Anneux Cemetery in France.

George Victor Morgan lived at 8 Grove Place in Penarth. He enlisted with the Welsh Regiment before being transferred to the 1/4th Battalion of the South Lancashire Regiment. George was killed in action on August 23, 1916 during the Battle of the Somme, aged 19. His grave was lost and he is remembered on the Thiepval Memorial to the Missing.

Harry Douglas White served as an ordinary seaman on the SS Boscastle. He and 16 other members of the crew were killed as the result of an attack by an enemy submarine on April 7, 1918.

EweMove sales and lettings scoop three top awards

EWEMOVE has been awarded Gold for Innovator of the Year, Silver for Best New Agency and Bronze for Best Franchise Network at The Negotiator Awards 2015.

After an incredible year with many new branches launching across the UK, rapidly growing sales and lettings agent EweMove, which has been a popular addition to the Vale of Glamorgan property market since it was set up, is delighted with these wins that add to their growing collection of awards.

From over 360 entries – the most in its history – The Negotiator Award-winner for 2015 was revealed at a glamorous gala dinner in the London Hilton, Park Lane on November 3.

The result was announced in front of 730 estate agents and industry specialists and was hosted by Alistair McGowan, impressionist, comedian and actor.

The Property Party of the Year went on into the small hours and was enjoyed by all.

Director of EweMove Vale of Glamorgan, Karen Treweek said: "We are absolutely thrilled to win the awards! We're always looking for ways to improve the service we provide and we are really proud that the judges recognised our pioneering approach and have rewarded us with a prestigious Gold award for Innovation, Silver for Best New Agency and Bronze for Best Franchise Network.

"Winning is a huge pat on the back for each member of the growing EweMove team and it motivates us to continue our quest to provide local vendors, landlords, buyers and tenants with exceptional customer service."

Multi-award winning EweMove is rapidly being recognised as a serious player in the property market, thanks to its quirky brand, green sheep mascot, and commitment to providing exceptional customer service.

The service-focused estate agent is rated '5 Star' and 'Excellent' by customers on the independent review platform Trustpilot. It also offers unique Happiness Guarantees for sellers, landlords and buyers. For vendors this means that they are never tied into long contracts and can walk away at any time without being charged a penny.

Karen added: "We pride ourselves on working harder to deliver results for our clients with minimum stress or hassle. To get our sellers' and landlords' homes more interest, more quickly we operate a 24/7 service to make sure that any viewing, enquiry, property application or purchase offer is never lost."

For further information, please contact Richard Cook or Karen Treweek, EweMove Branch Directors for the Vale of Glamorgan on 01446 349349 or visit EweMove.com/barry.

UNDER-STRENGTH BARRY SECONDS ARE DEFEATED

BARRY Second XV travelled to a rain-soaked capital to face St Joseph's as they continued their league campaign.

Manager Ken Chow and coaches Rhidian Scott and Martin Tanner were once again faced with a long list of players unavailable, injured, or otherwise engaged as has been the case for most of the season.

Their cause was not helped by players failing to turn up for the match and players arriving late on the day.

The poor preparations were evident as St Josephs scored from the kick off after a handling error by the visitors.

Things did not improve as the half wore on, as Barry battled against their well-drilled opponents and the elements.

With the rain battering down on the green-and-whites, they were unable to stem the tide and the home side was out of sight by half-time.

Chances for the visitors to score were few and far between in the first interval, although Matt Russell did miss a shot at goal and Nick Rolfe had a try ruled out for double movement.

At half-time the coaching team offered words of encouragement, but things looked from bad to worse as both John Miles and Mitchell Scott hobbled off with injuries.

That, somehow, seemed to galvanise the struggling visitors as makeshift flanker Jordan Clarke joined man-of-the-match Callum Scott in disrupting the St Josephs attack in the second interval.

The home side had the lion's share of possession but found the Barry defence unrelenting.

A tremendous number of tackles were made in the 40 minutes, most of it in Barry's own 22, but still the door was shut.

With the home side increasingly frustrated and their attempt by their back row to influence refereeing decisions failing, Barry sensed a chance to break out and pieced together a period of possession.

When Clarke, Scott and Peake made good yards into the St Joseph's half, the ball was recycled quickly by scrum-half Rhidian Mephram.

The ball was passed down the line, with Chris Bailey making good ground before offloading to Tom Adams, who sprinted through in the corner to score. Russell was unable to add the extras.

While the 37-5 final score was a fair reflection of the home side's dominance over 80 minutes, the players who donned the Barry shirt should be proud of their efforts in atrocious conditions.

One must wonder what this group of players can achieve if players take more responsibility in their availability and punctuality in training and match day.

The second XV will

MILDRED CELEBRATES 100TH BIRTHDAY - BY PLAYING BRIDGE WITH HER FRIENDS IN BRIDGEND AND PORTHCAWL!

Bridgend Bridge Club: LATEST NEWS

A party was held to celebrate the 100th birthday of club member Mildred Trigg Knight, who reached her memorable birthday on November 9.

As well as cheese and wine, a splendid cake was part of the refreshments in what proved to be a very happy and enjoyable evening, one of many celebrations Mildred has experienced to mark her reaching 100.

Mildred still enjoys playing club bridge on a regular basis, and Bridgend Bridge Club wish her a very happy birthday on this unforgettable event.

The results for recent events are: Wednesday, November 11 - 1st Linda Pinnock and Denis Mottram, 2nd Vida Halford and Glyn Williams, 3rd Marjorie Morris and Bill Turner. Winners on handicap Linda Pinnock and Denis Mottram.

Thursday, November 12 - 1st Arthur Harvey and Glyn Williams, 2nd Frances Heslin and Dee Finch, 3rd Debbie Lea and Stuart Davies. Winners on handicap Frances Heslin and Dee Finch.

Friday, November 13 - 1st Ray Smith and John Beard, 2nd Tony and Emer Disley, 3rd Hazel and Colin Heard. Winners on handicap V Irene Thomas and Margaret Williams.

Regular club nights take place on Wednesday and Friday evenings at Noltan Church Hall. Play is scheduled to commence at 7pm so it helps if players arrive at least 10 minutes early.

On Thursday afternoons at 2pm, also at Noltan Church Hall, there is a gentle duplicate session.

Master points are now awarded but it remains a relaxed occasion where players enjoy their bridge.

Latest news from the Porthcawl Bridge Club

One of the club's longest-serving members has just reached 100 years old!

On Monday, November 9 - her actual birthday - the club held a party for Mildred Trigg-Knight (pictured).

The Glamorgan Holiday Hotel provided an excellent buffet for Mildred, with her celebrating her big day doing what she has enjoyed most for the past 60 years - playing bridge among her friends.

Also, the club participated in the Children In Need simultaneous pairs - a competition played internationally over the same set of hands, and scored centrally, with the proceeds being donated to CIN; Janet and Betty won the local event.

Recent club results: Thursday, November 5: First, Sue Anthony and Trish Saunders; handicap, Pat Roper and John Cobby. Saturday, November 7: First, Roger Draper and Janet Richards; second, Colin and Hazel Heard.

Monday, November 9: First, Pat Roper and John Cobby; second (equal), John Hillman and Mari Jones; Dil and Marian Evans. Thursday, November 12: First, Janet Richards and Betty

Longley; handicap - Dil Richards; second, Colin and Hazel Heard. The club meets twice a week: Saturday and Thursday at the Awel-y-Mor centre, 7pm to 10.15pm, visitors welcome. To contact the club, call our secretary Trish on 01656 785794.

Rugby club hoping for action

WITH no rugby for the first XV or the youth last Saturday, Cowbridge RFC teams will be champing at the bit to get a run out this weekend.

The first XV entertain Llandrindod Wells from the mid Wales. We offer them a warm welcome to the town.

The BA youth travel to Beddau for what looks to be an exciting match; both games to kick off at 2.30pm. All support would be most welcome.

This Thursday the club will hold its usual Beaujolais night, a chance to sample the first wine of the season with a little cheese and baguette.

If you fancy a glass or two then pop on down from about 8pm onwards.

LADY BOWLERS SUPPORT THE LOCAL STROKE CLUB

RECENTLY, an annual charity coffee morning event was held at the Albert Edward Prince of Wales Ladies Bowls Club.

The club supports local charities and on this occasion, Porthcawl Stroke was one of those charities.

This was no ordinary coffee morning - the bowling club ladies worked extremely hard to increase their funds through a variety of tabletop stalls.

The 2015 captain, Mrs Yvonne Guttridge, follows the traditions of the Guttridge family, who have for many years supported community projects.

On October 28, a

£350 cheque was presented to the Porthcawl Stroke Club by chair Mrs Jean Downes and secretary Mrs Wendy Williams.

Porthcawl Stroke Club would like to thank all the bowling ladies. We would also like to thank all the community supporters and wish everyone a merry Christmas and a prosperous new year.

Our thoughts also go to Porthcawl Stroke Club secretary, Ray Cross, who is experiencing ill health at the moment, also to the members who are unable to attend.

Anyone wishing to join the Porthcawl Stroke Club should contact chairman, Keith Duggan, on 01656 773375.

Phoenix pick up a valuable victory

KIDWELLY ladies arrived at the Recreation Ground having won their two National League matches to date and with Phoenix not having played since their 26-7 win at Seven Sisters on October 11, this was a difficult match to call.

The playing surface was in remarkably good condition following the recent deluge. The home side stated their intentions early and struck with a superb counter-attacking try, Phoenix full back Hannah Seward turning defence into attack from 70 metres before linking with her threequarters and good hands in midfield saw right wing Zoe Reeves race away from some 40 metres-plus to score.

Phoenix then absorbed a period of pressure from the visitors with Ospreys squad member Lowri Reeves putting in a thumping tackle to keep her line intact.

Phoenix were looking dangerous on the counter with Melissa Clay and Nerys Lloyd almost working the pace Seward clear. Clay was also giving the visitors problems at the line out, putting pressure on their throw and scrum half Amy Stevens capitalized on a lineout steal with a forceful run, well supported with good driving play from skipper Katie Murphy.

Phoenix, playing with the strong wind at their backs, increased their lead, centre Lloyd putting in a well measured kick downfield to the visitors' try line and a hurried clearance fell to Phoenix hooker Natalie O'Shea and the Blues squad member drove at the heart of the Kidwelly defence to set up ruck possession.

Swift handling saw Seward use her pace to angle away from the desperate cover to score halfway out, army cap Jade Mullen slotting the conversion for a 12-0 lead.

Kathryn Stonehouse then did well to take a difficult restart in the blustery conditions to set up good ball for Phoenix and the game reached the halfway mark with both sides battling for supremacy up front.

A trademark Stonehouse tackle opened the second half, the back row forward stopping the Kidwelly ball carrier dead in her tracks.

Phoenix then picked up a yellow card for a technical offence and Jodie Evans opened the visitors' account from the resultant 35-metre penalty goal. Phoenix were now having to work hard into the worsening match elements and good driving play from prop forward Eleri Harris-Thomas and No 8 Sophie Gunning typified the home resolve.

Going into the final 10 minutes, Phoenix looked to have sealed the match, left wing Leanne Burnell scorching away from 75 metres to go under the posts; unfortunately for the home side the final pass was adjudged forward.

Phoenix were now having to play with the increasing south westerly wind lashing in their face and desperately defending their line, they picked up a second yellow card.

Kidwelly were now throwing everything at Phoenix in their efforts to cross the home line but successive tackles deep in the 22 from Mullen, Clay and O'Shea kept them out.

Phoenix returned to their full complement with two minutes left on the clock and a superb committed defensive effort all round from the home side denied the visitors a try.

This was a fine, well deserved win for Phoenix, gaining valuable league points, and the squad can look forward to the remainder of the season with confidence following this gritty, gutsy performance where every team member played their part showing the essential team spirit which is absolutely necessary.

Kidwelly chose Welsh international Melissa Clay, playing at No. 7 on this occasion, as best Phoenix forward, with Nerys Lloyd chosen as best home back.

Recruitment

CLERK (PART TIME)

After over ten years' service, the current Clerk to the Council is retiring and the Council is seeking a suitable replacement.

The Council provides a range of services in St Brides Minor (Bryncethin, Bryncoch, Sarn) and the main responsibilities of the Clerk are to ensure that the Council conducts its business in accordance with the Local Government Act 1972 and subsequent relevant legislation and regulations issued by the Welsh Assembly, and acts as the Council's executive officer implementing its decisions, carrying out projects as directed and keeping the Council's finances in good order. The post will be based at the Life Long Learning Centre, in Sarn.

Applications are invited from those who have suitable experience to enable them to carry out such responsibilities and it is suggested that a background in Business, Public Administration or the Voluntary Sector would be suitable, but applications are invited from anyone who believes they meet the post's requirements.

Hours to be agreed but probably around 10 per week, salary to be negotiated based on hours of work and suitable experience offered for the post.

Letters of application, giving reasons for making application and describing qualifications and experience to:

Councillor Yvonne Nott, Chair, St Brides Minor Community Council at The Life Long Learning Centre, Merfield Close, Sarn, CF32 9SW OR by e-mail to nott.vonny@googlemail.com

If further details, are required The Chair of the Council (Tel 01656 721452) and the Clerk (Tel 01656 651500) can be called.

CLOSING DATE : 5th December 2015

Sully Sports sides have a winning weekend!

SULLY Sports RFC travelled to Cardiff to play old rivals CIACs on a wet blustery day, and, after their defeat the previous weekend by league leaders Saracens, were determined to put on a better show.

The CIACs have not had too good a season so far, and have struggled to fulfil all their fixtures, but were able to field a full team, and despite atrocious weather and ground conditions, the game was on.

Although not a classic game, it was good to see the Sports start off well and control events for much of the time, and eventually run out victors by 39-10.

The whole team played with great passion and belief, none more so than Nathan Szuchnik who was having only his second outing in over a year following a serious injury.

Captain Jon Blake led from the base of the pack with one of seven tries, with the others coming from Jody Velda (2), Rhys Manford, Scott Sandford, Alex Szuchnik and Sam Bowditch. Jake Williams added two conversions.

Sully Sports seconds, playing only their second game of the season, entertained local rivals Sea View RFC, and both sides found it very difficult in the wet and windy conditions.

It was obvious that the lack of game time for both sides, and the conditions, would result in a game devoid of fluidity and skill, despite the willingness and rivalry on the pitch.

Sea View edged the first half and led at the break by a converted try, scored by Nathan Hardy.

Playing with the strong wind at their backs in the second period, it was the Sports turn to gain the ascendancy.

Nick Taylor scored a try wide out, and the conversion was missed.

In the final quarter of the game the Sports were handed a chance to take the lead with a penalty in front of the posts, but chose to run it and the Sea View defence held firm, but, with time running out, the Sports were awarded another penalty in the same position. Scott Mills stepped up to successfully convert it and clinch a 8-7 victory.

CLUB NOTICES

Sully IBC earn excellent win

SULLY IBC welcomed Taff Ely IBC from Pontypridd to Sully Stadium for the reverse fixture of a Club Championships game, hoping to turn around the hammering they took in the first game of the season at Pontypridd.

A good win here would put Sully back into the mix and close the gap on leaders Newport and second placed Taff Ely, and with the way the fixtures are set the league title is wide open.

Before the game commenced there was a minute's silence to pay tribute to those who lost their lives in the Paris massacre the previous evening.

The opening exchanges went in favour of the home side who went into an 11 shot lead by the end of the fifth end due to the excellent starts made by the rinks of Brian Griffiths, Fred Phillips and Brian Foscolo, ahead by 7, 5 and 4 shots respectively.

Between the sixth and 10th ends Sully went further ahead by 23 shots, with five rinks now ahead including Ken McLeod's and Chris Ackland's rinks who had now gained advantages, leaving Martin Clarke-Squires' rink with a deficit of four shots.

At the halfway stage the overall score now stood at 68-45 in favour of Sully but Taff Ely were contesting hard and over ends 11 to 15 this period was fairly even with the visitors only able to reduce their deficit by just two shots, still leaving Sully 21 shots ahead.

With six ends to play the rink of Phil Gershenson, John Jones, Roy Richards and Fred Phillips, who had played well all afternoon, continued their form to gain a well-earned win, 27-14, while Foscolo's rink of Graham Cogbill, Graham Eastment and Mike Doyle continued their fine recent form, once again recording a fine win 22-13.

The rink of Morgan, Burton, Hudson and skip McLeod showed grit, leading after the second end and finally winning by 16-11, while Griffiths' rink, who have struggled in the previous two matches, finally managed to gain a win, scoring two 2's on the last couple of ends to win 21-18 after being one behind on the 19th end.

Chris Ackland's rink was having a tight game against the visitors' rink skipped by Adrian Dash and was only one adrift on the 16th end, but lost the last five ends and seven shots, losing 17-25.

Clarke-Squires' rink, 5-14 behind at end nine, kept hanging on, being two down on the 15th end, winning the next three ends and going ahead 19-18.

They then dropped a two to go one behind before making a good three on the 20th end to hold a two shot advantage going into the last end, but then managed to drop a two to tie their game 22-22.

The overall result was an excellent win for Sully, 125-103, gaining revenge for their early season defeat and with four of the six rinks winning and a tie, Sully gained 19 points to Taff Ely's three points, the overall score 125-103.

Sully play their last game before the Christmas break on Saturday against Ogwr at Bridgend at 2pm.

The men's first team this year had an indifferent season in their first season in the Premier League in nearly 20 years, as they struggled to get a settled team. This resulted in them finishing fifth out of six in the league and, unfortunately, getting relegated. However Brynhill first team was still the fifth best team in south Wales this season!

The first team also qualified for the Welsh team championships finals held at Glamorganshire in August, where they reached the last 16 in Wales.

The second team continued their winning ways and climb up the league tables by getting promoted this season for the second consecutive season. Congratulations to Sam Preston and his team.

Finally, and by far the best achievement, which came in the Mail on Sunday competition. This team consisted of first and second team players. The competition was an inter-club knockout open to every golf club in the UK.

The first round was in January and nine rounds later Brynhill have qualified to play in the finals in Spain at the end of November. Over 3,000 teams entered the competition and we are now down to the last four teams.

This is the first time Brynhill has ever won through to the finals in the competition and the only Welsh team to have got through to the finals this year.

BRIDGE RESULTS

RECENT results at the Vale of Glamorgan bridge club were as follows:

Monday, November 9, Children in Need Sims - 1st Tony Ratcliffe & Julian Pottage 73.58%; 2nd Mike Best & Kevin Maddox 62.78%; 3rd Alan Lewis & Tery Evans 59.38%.

Many thanks to all who supported us, we raised £250 for Children in Need.

LE

PENARTH HOCKEY CLUB NEWS ROUND-UP

WITH the seconds on hiatus, the first and third XIs took centre stage for Penarth Hockey Club last weekend, not least the development side, which faced a GoCrea8 league double-header way out west in Lampeter.

BRIDGEND 1, PENARTH 5
Having seen off all-comers – often by double-figure scorelines – in the first swing of league encounters, Penarth finally faced the only other unbeaten side as they took on Bridgend in a top-of-the-table showdown to see who really were the top dogs in De Cymru and Marches 1.

Following days of heavy rainfall, the match reverted to Penarth, with the newly-laid Stanwell pitch faring a lot better in the conditions. It was the visitors who struck first, as a clever through ball found an available striker, who dribbled across the area before lifting the ball over Penarth keeper Adam Putt on his reverse.

The Vale side gradually regained their composure, however, and the first half remained an even affair. With seconds left in the period, their persistence paid off as a string of poor challenges from Bridgend on the edge of their own 'D' gave Penarth one last penalty corner before the break.

Although the Bridgend 'keeper saving two initial efforts from Laith El Khatib, the ball eventually fell to David Joyce, who tapped home on the whistle.

The home side headed back into the fray full of confidence and wasted no time in seizing the advantage as Joyce received the ball in the Bridgend area and beat the keeper at his near post to put Penarth 2-1 up.

It took just five second half minutes for Joyce to complete his hat-trick as Penarth put together a move that began with a wind-assisted aerial from player-coach Ben Croxall to man-of-the-match Phil Lane. Lane drove in to the Bridgend 'D', drawing a foul that left the umpire with no option but to award a penalty stroke. Full of confidence, Joyce stepped up and finished emphatically, putting the ball high into the net to the keeper's right.

Croxall showed his class as he left three defenders in his wake before finding Joyce at the back post to notch his fourth goal of the game, while Chris Baker completed the scoring in typical fashion, driving into the 'D' before striking a low shot past the hapless Bridgend keeper to leave the score at 5-1 and Penarth now alone in top spot in their division.

TRINITY ST DAVID'S 0-7 PENARTH 'B'
TRINITY ST DAVID'S 0-6 PENARTH 'B'

After much haggling that followed the cancellation of Penarth's early-season trip to face the students of Trinity St David's, the Vale side was faced not only with a daunting trip to Pembrokeshire in appalling conditions, but also with the task of completing two back-to-back games on the same day in order to get their fixture list back on track.

Penarth initially struggled to make their possession translate into goals against the bottom of the table side but, having settled into a controlled passing game, the floodgates opened and victory was secured by the comfortable margin on 7-0.

The novel twist of immediately commencing a second game to fulfil the fixture that had to be rearranged from earlier in the season could have been a pitfall for the visitors but, in a mirror image of the first match, the two sides proved competitive for 20 minutes before Penarth took control.

As soon as the Bees started to play with speed of pass and organisation throughout the line-up, they again proved too efficient for the hard-working student side, resulting in a second win, this time by the margin of 6-0, which lifted them to a mid-table spot in De Cymru 3.

The strike partnership of Dave Watkins and Sam Salisbury scored seven goals between them across both games while, defensively, Morgan Salisbury continues to grow in confidence, with his distribution from the pivotal right half position improving with every game.

While the third XI enjoy a weekend off to recover from their trip west, the firsts and seconds both have the luxury of home fixtures at Stanwell School.

The senior side takes on Bristol & West, who moved into a share of second place in the division last week, while the second XI returns from a bye week to begin the second swing of De Cymru 2 fixtures against a Llanishen & Caerphilly side currently sitting third in the table.

Penarth Hockey Club always welcomes new, old and returning players, umpires, supporters, friends and helpers regardless of age and ability. Training takes place on Wednesdays at Stanwell School, with the juniors on the pitch between 6.15pm and 7.15pm and the seniors between 7.15pm and 8.15pm.

Anyone interested in joining the club at senior or youth level can contact either player-coach Ben Croxall (b_croxall20@yahoo.co.uk) or club secretary Dave Stevens (d_stevens81@hotmail.co.uk) for further information.

Atoms hit hard against Pencoeed

BARRY Atoms started off fast and hard in this game against Pencoeed under-13s.

After winning a scrum the ball came to Jack L, who dispatched out to wide to Jack Reid for the first try.

The first half was closed out with another strong performance by Jack R, who scored a fine try out wide.

The second half saw Rory's customary run and a try before Kyle scored on his debut after a great run.

Pencoeed then scored their first try, but we responded as Daf scored a try in the corner after more play through several phases. Jac N ran almost the length of the pitch to score, and though Pencoeed added a second try, Jack R finished out the game with an unstoppable try.

Team: Connor, Jack L, Rory, Zak, Jack R, Adam, Ethan, Owen, Ben, Rhys, Harry, Jamie, Daf, Fin, Anton, Kaiden, Cai, Jac N, Kyle, Jack W, Tristan.

Dinas Powys FC exit the League Cup after defeat

DESPITE bowing out of this year's competition, Dinas took a lot of positives from this game against Taffs Well, keeping their shape well and creating a number of scoring opportunities.

Because of the inclement weather, this game was switched to the 3G pitch at Llanrumney playing fields to get the fixture played.

As expected Taffs Well had the lion's share of possession but the young Dinas team had listened to the instructions given by the management team and played some excellent football at times.

An early ball down the right flank from Rhys Harlin sent King Junior Mwedo on his way but he was eventually dispossessed. At the other end a through ball found Jason Bertorelli but his effort was wide.

Adam Jones then squared a ball to Mwedo who hit a sweet shot just wide of Neil Collins' upright.

Taffs won the first corner which was dealt with by Dinas captain Ben Luck; however the Division One side looked dangerous at times and their passing and movement was keeping the Dinas back four on their toes.

Both teams were awarded direct free kicks from outside the area - Taffs' taken by Tyrone Topper was off target and Nicky Bruce, for Dinas, was also wide.

On the 30 minute mark Taffs Well took the lead when a shot by Bertorelli took a big deflection off a Dinas defender leaving James Curtin stranded.

Just eight minutes later Dinas levelled when Nicky Bruce drove through the Taffs defence and hit a powerful shot which Collins could only parry into the path of Mwedo and he tucked the ball home just inside the post for 1-1.

Bertorelli then evaded several tackles to get into the Dinas box but, again, failed to hit the target.

Mwedo was having a great game for Dinas and, picking the ball up just outside the box, he hit a rasping shot just wide with Collins scrambling across to cover it.

The last action of the first half was a Taffs Well corner which found the head of Jac Evans who headed downwards on target but Curtin dived on the ball to smother the danger and at 1-1 Dinas were certainly still in the game.

Although the rain eased slightly at the start of the second period the wind picked up making conditions very difficult.

The Villagers had the first chance; a Bruce free kick reached Mwedo who back-heeled the ball on target but Collins took it comfortably.

However, just three minutes into the half Taffs Well took the lead again, as a cross from the left was headed home by Topper from close range.

Dinas began to assert themselves again with Keiron James, Bruce and Rhys Palmer battling hard for possession, and it was Adam Jones who played Mwedo in. He got a good shot away on target bringing a fine save from Collins.

With 30 minutes still to play Taffs skipper Evans picked the ball up in midfield and hit an unstoppable shot into the top corner for 3-1 to virtually make the tie safe. Dinas then rang the changes, taking off striker Scott Muir for Nathan Donnelly.

A mention must be made of Dinas' two young full backs who both had fine games, Rhys Harlin and Mason Ah-Mun, and it was the latter who powered down the wing, laying the ball off to Mwedo who cut inside and curled a shot in which hit the crossbar.

At the other end Dinas had James to thank for clearing a goal-bound ball off the line.

With just five minutes remaining Taffs Well added a fourth goal which rather flattered the scoreline, substitute Harry Collins netting from close range.

Squad: 1 James Curtin, 2 Rhys Harlin, 3 Mason Ah-Mun, 4 Ben Luck (c), 5 James Marr, 6 Nicky Bruce, 7 Rhys Palmer, 8 Keiron James, 9 Scott Muir, 10 King Junior Mwedo (1), 11 Adam Jones, 12 Luke Swaffield, 14 Nathan Donnelly, 15 Paul Caulfield, 16 Tom Edwards, 17 Steffan Ross.

This Saturday, November 21, Dinas are back in league action when they travel East to take on Undy Athletic with a 2pm kick off.

GAME GOES TO THE WIRE AS BARRY BEAT RISCA

BARRY Town marked their first floodlit match since the re-opening of Jenner Park with a 4-1 win over perennial adversaries Risca United, in a match that remained a close affair until its final minutes.

On the scoresheet for Barry in the Welsh League Division One fixture were strikers James Dixon and Jordan Cotterill, as well as the returning Rhys James, who made his first appearance after eight weeks out with a broken collarbone.

Defender Bobby Briers meanwhile continued his run of successful spot kicks, dispatching an emphatic penalty after teammate Drew Fahiyah was adjudged to have been brought to the ground unfairly.

Wales international David Cotterill was among the interested spectators at Jenner Park, on an evening that saw the Town climb to fifth in the table in their first league game on the new 3G surface.

Barry's next senior action at Jenner Park will be on Saturday, November 28, when they welcome Aberdare Town back to the Vale, this time for a Welsh League encounter (2pm kick-off).

Gavin Chesterfield's side were 7-2 winners of the recent Welsh Cup meeting of the clubs, which set up a third round tie with north Wales opponents Denbigh Town at Jenner Park on Saturday, December 5.

THE Vale Resort's junior golf team is celebrating a double victory after winning two consecutive regional golfing championships.

The team, captained by Jack Wiggins, 16 from Tynyrefail, and made up of Grace Connolly, 14 from Miskin, Oliver Brown, 17 from Cowbridge, Morgan Grace, 16 from Glynneath, Ronan Oliver, 15 from Pontyclun and Ben Davies, 15 from Cardiff, achieved first place in the Welsh Junior Inter-Club Championships in Builth Wells this October, securing them a place at the Home Nations Inter-Club Championships in Andalusia, Spain in 2016.

Securing a second victory, the Vale junior team, joined by Callaghan Smith, 13 from Miskin and Jordan Oliver, 13 from Pontyclun, went on to beat the experienced Neath junior team in four nail-biting games at the Glamorgan County east vs. west final held at the Royal Porthcawl Golf Club in October.

Clive Coombs, the Vale Resort's golf operations manager, said: "The junior team has proved themselves to be formidable golfing opponents with their latest round of success at a regional level. Each player brought individual strengths to the teams and they played some fantastic rounds of golf throughout both competitions.

"We are incredibly proud of how hard the teams have worked this year and the double victory reflects the level of investment the Vale Resort puts into nurturing our junior members through the golf Academy to be the great golfing stars of the future."

"We are all looking forward to the Home Nations Inter-Club Championships in Andalusia and hope to repeat our success of 2013 and bring home the trophy!"

Speaking of the double victory, team captain, Jack Wiggins, said: "I feel honoured to be the captain of such incredible teams who all gave their best efforts in some tricky games against the country's top junior players. These two wins give us all the confidence we need ahead of the next level of championships in Spain next year."

The teams are made up of players who have come through the Vale Resort's Junior Golfing Academy, which has produced young golfing stars such as the European Amateur Championship Cup winner, Rhys Pugh.

To celebrate the recent successes of the junior golfing team, the Vale is currently offering a special junior golfing membership package.

Open to young people aged between 8-18 years, it includes free access to the Vale's Academy Coaching Scheme, a copy of the Academy's coaching manual and over 50 per cent off junior membership subscription fee for the first year.

For more information on the Junior Golf Programme, please visit www.vale-hotel.com/golf.

Evan's winning run continues!

LLANRCARFAN'S Evan Williams' winning streak continues; his seven-year-old On Tour had won the novices' chase under Paul Moloney at Exeter last Wednesday, beating the odds-on favourite Otogo by half-a-length and he was back in the winners' enclosure at Ludlow 24 hours later after his nine-year-old bay gelding, King Massini, partnered by in-form Adam Wedge, landed the Injured Jockeys Fund Handicap Chase by two-and-a-half lengths from Rockiteer.

On Tour was a 9-4 chance and King Massini went off the 3-1 favourite in a field of 11 runners. The latter was Evan's 50th winner at Ludlow where he is the leading trainer.

Earlier in the day, Bridgend's Rhys Flint, riding the top weighted Helium for Alexandra Dunn, won the Support The Ludlow On Course Bookmakers Novices' Limited Handicap Chase coming home 12 lengths ahead of Queen Olivia. Rhys was winning on the 10-year-old Helium for the third time on the bounce.

THE Evan Williams bandwagon keeps rolling on. After Paul Moloney won on Aqua Dude (5-2) for him at Southwell on Monday, the Llanrcarfan ex-farmer had a double at Sedgfield on Tuesday with Poulancassy (5-2) and Hughesie (3-1).

Both were ridden by Adam Wedge and the former won by one-and-a-quarter lengths from the favourite Good Vibration and the latter got home half a length ahead of Rear Admiral to complete a 13-1 double.

UNLUCKY BUYWISE

JUST MISSES OUT BUYWISE, an eight-year-old bay gelding trained at Llanrcarfan by Evan Williams, could be counted an unlucky loser of the £91,120 Paddy Power Cup Steeplechase at Cheltenham last Saturday.

Ridden by stable jockey Paul Moloney, Buywise, who was fifth in the race last year, was beaten just half-a-length by the Alan King trained Annacotty after coming with a great late run and after getting in all sorts of trouble and making a hash of several of his fences.

Evan told the press: "The horse ran a great race. It's difficult to say this in second place but he's been given a very, very good ride and we have no excuses."

Moloney said: "Buywise did well considering I was in a lot of trouble at the top of the hill and he's done really well to slog on."

Buywise, a former good winning hurdler, still earned his connections £34,000 for finishing in the runners-up spot.

Sean Bowen, son of Pembrokehire trainer Peter Bowen, landed the Regulatory Finance Solutions Handicap Hurdle on his father Peter's Ron's Dream.

He said: "Ron's Dream just kept picking up and she's improved a lot. It was great winning this for mum and dad."

Cadoxton Tae Kwon Do enjoys a successful British Championship

FIVE gold, four silver and seven bronze were brought home by Cadoxton Tae Kwon Do school students from Cheltenham Leisure Centre, where competitors from all over the UK converged to take part in a well-run event, the Global Tae Kwon Do International British Open Championships.

The event started with traditional forms, where young Thea Cunningham came away with a credible second, Lucia Cunningham and Ethan Andrus taking third places.

Once the pattern sections were over, the point sparring got under way. First up was the girls' pee wee green belt point sparring, where Maddison Allen took first, with Charlie Rogers and Thea Cunningham both taking third place in the girls' junior Green belt categories. Leland Butler fought his way through to take third place in the boys' junior yellow belt category.

Competing in a very strong boys' red belt middleweight continuous sparring we had Cameron Evans and Ethan Andrus. Both made the finals, with Cameron taking first and Ethan coming away with the third place.

Competing for the first time in the junior boys' black belt light, middle and heavyweight categories we had Cian Allen, Jake Quigley, Cody Jacobsen and Joel Wells. All gave a good account of themselves, with Cian taking the bronze in the middleweights.

Competing in the girls' middleweight category, Lucy Newman fought her way through to the final, taking first place and the gold. Once again dominating the women's black belt lightweight continuous sparring was Keita Enfield, who went on to take gold.

In the mens' black belt lightweight continuous sparring, Matthew Bennett reached the final, which went into extra time three times. Matthew's fitness showed, as he eventually took first place.

The event ended with the adult and junior teams synchronised patterns. With only a short time to prepare, we put a junior team in consisting of Lucy Newman, Cody Jacobsen and Cian Allen and they took second place and the silver medal.

New Ross Town pay a visit to Barry!

NEW Ross Town under-12s of Ireland recently visited Barry to play Barry Town United under-13s; the following report was written by Leighton Thomas, the coach of the boys from New Ross.

The club's first international trip was a huge success. The under-12 boys who travelled were not only a credit to themselves and the club, but represented their town remarkably. They were treated like VIPs for the weekend by Barry Town United and these memories will last a lifetime. Both clubs formed a bond and we look forward to hosting our Welsh counterparts in the near future.

On Saturday morning the group headed to the ground at Jenner Park, the home of Barry Town United AFC. This ground has hosted Champions League games and saw Barry Town defeat the mighty Porto 3-1 in 2001. The club's senior match day programme noted that New Ross Town are the first overseas club to visit Jenner Park since Skonto Riga in 2003. Irish goalkeeper David Forde has also played for Barry Town.

As the boys entered the ground at 9am Barry Town hoisted the Irish and Welsh flags. Excitement kicked in and running on to the field couldn't come soon enough. The warm up took place in front of the paparazzi parents before heading back into the changing room for the pre-match talk.

As kick off approached the boys lined up in the tunnel alongside the Barry Town under-13 boys. They were led onto the pitch by the referee and his linesmen, and as the players turned down the running track the away supporters could be heard from the stands.

Both clubs then lined up in the centre of the pitch for photos and the captains exchanged club pennants. Barry Town presented a lovely framed Barry jersey for the occasion.

The match began with the fans cheering from the stands. The noise created from the stands was amazing and the boys later commented on how great it was and that it gave them an idea of what it must be like for the professionals.

The rain came down briefly but this didn't dampen the spirit showed by the Ross boys. Every ball was fought for and though they gave everything the Barry boys got the breakthrough in the first half.

The Barry boys showed they were an excellent footballing side and through some lovely passing moves produced a couple more goals, yet the Ross Town boys kept battling until the last whistle. The match ended in defeat but the Ross Town boys did themselves proud against a very strong Barry Town team.

Every player gave 100 per cent and on another day a couple of chances may have gone in. They certainly had the travelling support on their toes and gave them something to cheer about throughout the game.

After the match both teams headed for the changing rooms and the Barry Town players and coaches gave a guard of honour to the Ross Town boys and presented the Welsh and Irish flags to the team.

The boys sat in the dressing room with a smile still on their faces and several Barry Town club members and staff spoke to them about how well they had performed. The head referee came into the dressing room and announced Cathal Mooney as the man of the match.

This was well deserved and the parents would later reward Cathal with a Cardiff City shirt for his efforts.

Barry Town then laid on food for the group and afterwards Barry Town United manager Gavin Chesterfield spoke to the boys and said they had impressed him with how they kept going until the end and tried to play football even though the scoreline was against them.

Gavin had only recently claimed the Victory Shield with the Welsh under-16 team and for Gavin to speak with the boys, praise them and shake every players hand had them all looking up with excitement and left them feeling that they had done well.

On Saturday afternoon the lads and parents travelled to Cardiff for the Championship match between Cardiff City and Reading. It's only fair to say that after purchasing half of the Cardiff City shop, the boys entered the stadium and became supporters that had the whole ground turning their heads to see the loudest kids in there!

The excitement they created was infectious with even the stewards jumping in for a photo at the end of the game. The boys sang and cheered throughout. The game ended in a 2-0 win for Cardiff and the boys were the last supporters in the ground.

The group proceeded to the players entrance outside the ground, where any player wanting to get in their car had to have a selfie first; former Manchester United player Federico Macheda was first out followed by Noone, Tomas and Shola Ameobi.

The weekend was over and Sunday saw a tired group depart Wales. The train journey and boat were a bit quieter but some still had energy for a rugby match on board. This was definitely not the parents!

The club is so thankful to the many people and now friends who made this trip possible. Everyone involved at Barry Town helped to create a memorable trip for our boys.

Thanks to Mark Barrett, a sponsor of Barry Town, who invited our club over and helped to arrange the game against Barry's under-13 team.

Mark also provided the 33 match tickets for the Cardiff match which was an amazing gesture to the whole group. For Barry Town United there was Gavin and Hannah Chesterfield who planned the match day activities at Jenner Park, the Barry under-13 squad including coaches who were fantastic on the day and very professional throughout, and the many club officials who spoke brilliantly to our kids before and after the game.

From our own club thanks go to the parents that travelled on the trip. They made the whole trip run smoothly while getting in on the craic along the way; and finally to the heroes of this trip who each deserve special mention – Shaun Hearn, Niall Mooney, Cathal Mooney, Sean Barry, Diarmuid Barry, Sean O'Brien, Chris Murphy, Evan Katus, Bobby Katus, Cillian Thomas, Finn Waters, Connor Kutay, Conor Bolger, Liam O'Neill, and Harry Stafford.

Each of them is a joy to coach, and both myself and the club are very proud of every one of them. We look forward to our next trip.

School's walk

ON November 8, Remembrance Sunday, members of Barry Comprehensive School's Duke of Edinburgh group participated in a memorial walk in the Brecon Beacons, along with Mr Gamble, Mr Hutton, Miss Rowe and Mrs Davies.

The walking conditions were challenging, but the boys persevered, showing great determination to reach the Wellington bomber R1465 crash site and memorial cairn.

The group had the opportunity to explore the site before hearing a brief history of the events of July 6, 1942. They learnt that the bomber crashed while on a cross-country training exercise, due to heavy cloud.

The pilot had descended in order to pinpoint their position, but hit the top of the mountain. The crew of five Canadians were killed in the crash. The memorial cairn was constructed in 1980 and is a recognised Canadian war memorial.

The group placed poppies around the wreckage and as part of the service at the memorial, further showed their respects by observing a two-minute silence. All of the boys were excellent representatives of Barry Comprehensive School and we are looking forward to making this an annual activity for future Duke of Edinburgh groups.

PLAYER OF THE YEAR

B A R R Y Comprehensive student Luke Grant showcased his raw talent as a cricketer this season.

Luke, who is in year 9, was nominated as player of the year 2015 at Barry Wanderers and also took the most wickets in the season, an impressive achievement. Well done, Luke!

Hockey's Beth helps to inspire youngsters

WELSH hockey international Beth Fisher co-hosted a young ambassadors training day in Barry recently as part of a scheme run by the Vale Council to get more young people involved in sport at school.

Fisher, who has amassed 49 caps for Wales, attended in her capacity as a Sky Sports Living for Sport Mentor and talked about her own experience in sports and how the young ambassadors could inspire fellow pupils to participate in sports.

The young ambassador movement aims to empower and inspire young people to become role models and leaders through sport, by developing their confidence and skills in order to increase physical participation in others.

The Council's sports development team is currently working with over 100 young ambassadors across the Vale. These include bronze ambassadors based in primary schools and silver and gold ambassadors in secondary schools.

Every year the Vale provides the ambassadors with an annual training day to ensure that the young people are equipped to deliver activities within their schools.

The Vale Council's Sport Development Workforce Co-ordinator, Steffan Williams, said: "This is an extremely exciting scheme that will provide invaluable experience for young people to inspire fellow pupils to participate in physical activity."

YOUTH TO THE FORE AS POSITIVES COME OUT OF NETHERLANDS DEFEAT

IT was always going to be an interesting test for Wales, against a Netherlands side who had failed to qualify for next summer's European Championships, and a test made all that more difficult by the absence through injury of several key players, most notably Gareth Bale and Aaron Ramsey.

In their previous seven encounters with the men in orange, Wales had failed to manage even a draw, losing all seven and conceding 21 goals into the bargain (although a third of those came from the embarrassing 7-1 reverse in Eindhoven in 1996 under the auspicious leadership of fan's least-favourite, Bobby Gould).

It may have proved a case of same old story on Friday night at the Cardiff City Stadium, but despite the 3-2 defeat (the first reverse suffered at home in just over two years) there were plenty of positives to take from the game - and a few negatives.

In drenched conditions that saw heavy rainfall, it was an inauspicious start for Chris Coleman's team, as the Dutch, led by the highly-impressive Arjen Robben, got out of the blocks the quicker, keeping the ball and pressing for the opening.

When Wales did get on the ball they looked to Johnny Williams and Tom Lawrence for the creative spark going forward that would normally be provided by the absent Ramsey and Bale, and the pair applied themselves with verve and energy, consistently looking to run at the Dutch defence and search for openings.

In what was a fairly even game, it was the Netherlands who struck first, as the Welsh defence were unable to deal with Dutch pressure around the area and Dost headed powerfully home, giving Wayne Hennessey little chance.

Undaunted, and buoyed by a vociferous 25,000-strong crowd, the Welsh looked for a way back into the game and found one on the stroke of half-time when the referee adjudged that Kongolo had handled Ben Davies' volley, and though Joe Allen's weak penalty was saved by Clissen, Joe Ledley was on hand to dispatch the rebound.

The second half continued in the same vein as the first, both sides battling to break the other down, and it was the Dutch who regained the lead with a top-class individual effort from Robben, the captain shaking off the boos of the crowd in inimitable style.

However this Welsh team were not daunted by this setback, and after a spell of

by GARETH JAMIESON

pressure, Allen's perfectly-aimed cross found the head of substitute Emyr Huws, who headed home to the delight of players and supporters.

It was a game that seemed to have another goal in it, and sadly for Wales, it came from the Netherlands. It was Robben again who had the final say, another individual moment of brilliance seeing him slip the ball past substitute goalkeeper Owain Fon Williams to make it 3-2.

So Wales' first Euro 2016 warm-up may have ended in defeat but there were many positives to take from the game, not least the way some of the players stepped up to be counted when it mattered. Not only were the team not overawed by the Dutch, the likes of Tom Lawrence, Johnny Williams, and substitutes Huws and George Williams provided the type of direct running that sent the Dutch defence hurtling back, their pace and youthful energy providing a much-needed spark for the team.

The fact that Wales looked competitive throughout will be a boost to Chris Coleman as he starts to consider the squad he'll be taking to France next summer, and that fringe players such as Lawrence, Huws and George Williams looked so accomplished can only be a positive in the countdown to the European Championships.

What may be a little more concerning for Coleman was the fragility of the team when called upon to defend. The rearguard action during the qualifying campaign was beyond impressive, conceding only four goals in 10 games, but too often on Friday the high-pressing Dutch were quick to pressurise the defence, especially the pacy Robben, who took great delight in carving open opportunities.

With talisman Ashley Williams replaced at half-time by James Collins, the defensive frailty was even more apparent, and had Robben been closed down more quickly, one or both of his goals may well have been prevented, something to ponder going forward as Collins, in particular, looked woefully off the pace against his speedy opposition.

Then there is the conundrum of Joe Allen - in the build-up to this game Allen was vociferous in how players needed to step up and show that there was more to this Wales team than just Gareth Bale; yet on the evidence of the game the midfielder was one of the few who failed to do that.

Unsure going forward, unsteady when on the back foot and the ignominy of a missed penalty - Allen had a bad day at the office, and when you consider the way others performed, and offered so much more, you have to wonder what he offers other than being one of the elder statesmen of this young team.

So, much to take on board for manager Chris Coleman, who after the match said: "We always want to win, we wanted a result and we didn't get that but we got a lot of other things out of the game."

"We were competitive. We used our full number of six substitutes and were still competitive. Overall I'm not too disappointed."

And neither should he be, for this result was hardly disastrous; instead it was a valuable learning curve for this team as they shape up for the excitement of next summer's European Championships.

The positives outweighed the negatives and the bleeding of the likes of Lawrence gives the squad a greater level of experience and depth going forward - something that Coleman will no doubt welcome in the months to come.

Kenfig Hill Seconds share spoils with Cefn Cribwr in friendly game

THE Mules second XV made the short trip 'up the twmp' to play a Cefn Cribwr XV in a rearranged friendly.

It was very surprising the game was played at all with inclement weather but congratulations to both teams and the referee for allowing the game to go ahead.

The near gale force wind was blowing straight up the pitch and the Mules played with this considerable advantage in the first half.

Cefn counteracted this by keeping the ball tight and playing an impressive pick and drive game which was thwarted in the main by a resolute Mules' defence.

Cefn opened the scoring with a well taken try after some good inter-passing amongst the forwards.

The try was converted but the Mules scored almost immediately from the kick off with hooker Joe Williams crashing over close to the posts. The try was converted by fly half Mathew Tossell to leave the score 7-7.

The half continued to be a tight affair with Cefn dominant at the set piece but the Mules managed one further converted try by dangerous centre Dale Smith, who crashed through the Cefn defenders to score a well-taken try.

After the break the Mules increased the lead with Nicky Giles taking a quick five metre penalty and diving over the line before the Cefn defence could organise themselves. The conversion was made and the Mules looked comfortable leading 21-7.

However, Cefn showed plenty of spirit and started using the strong wind to their advantage by kicking the ball out of hand to the corners.

The pressure counted and following a strong forward drive, they scored a converted try to put them within one score of the Mules.

The pressure continued and following a fine blind side break by ex-Muler scrum half Lee Rogers and a resulting forward drive

Cefn scored their third try wide out with the final play of the match.

Up stepped former Mules' fly half Owen Davies, who calmly slotted the difficult conversion to leave the final score Cefn Cribwr 21, Kenfig Hill seconds
